MARKET PLAN FOR CHEESE IS GIVEN BACKING

Representatives of 6 Farm Groups Support Seven-point Program

Madison—(P)—Representatives of six Wisconsin farm organizations, the state department of agriculture and markets, the federal farm board, and the college of agriculture have expressed unanimous approval of a new plan adopted by the board of directors of the National Cheese Producers Federation.

The new plan, E. B. Melvin, secretary-treasurer, said Tuesday, is intended to place the federation on a sound footing and in a position to add Wisconsin cheese-makers in the best marketing of their product.

The seven-point plan:

(1) "The federation will give its membership complete information on financial condition, management practices, operating policies and sales program."

(2) "No directors will be employed on a full-time basis. It is recognized that there may be need for the president and secretary to give some time to the affairs of the federation in addition to that of attending regular board meetings, but that such services be reimbursed on a per diem or part-time basis."

(3) "The federation adopt a sound policy with respect to initial advances on the commodity. The initial advance shall not be in excess of 75 per cent of the current market value. Such a policy is not only sound from the standpoint of cooperative marketing practice, but will give the federation a source of credit, which it does not have at present."

Keep Charges Down

(4) "The operating cost of the federation for the services which it performs—assembly and warehousing—is not to exceed the usual charge for those services."

(5) "The producer-members will have an early and fair opportunity to express themselves on the membership of the board of directors of the federation."

(6) "The directors will insist upon the efficient and able execution of their policies by competent management."

(7) "The National Cheese Producers' Federation will develop in an aggressive manner wider outlets for cheese; and immediately undertake the merchandising of its quality cheese under label or trade name."

On the basis of the new program, the following pledged their support to the federation:

Max Leopold, Arpin; H. Richardson, Dodgeville; of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation; K. W. Hones, Colfax, Farmers' Union of Wisconsin; E. J. Gehrmann, Mellen; Ben Lang, Marshfield, Wisconsin Society of Equity; Herman Thre, Neenah, Wisconsin State Grange; J. Lutsey, secretary, Pulaski; Helmut Ihlenfeldt, Greenleaf; Progressive Farmers of Wisconsin; B. J. Gehrmann, chairman, Wisconsin Council of Agriculture; Dean L. Christensen, K. L. Hatch and Asher Hobson, Wisconsin college of Agriculture; Charles L. Hill, W. F. Renk and J. D. Beck, commissioners of the state department of agriculture and markets, and H. M. Knipfel, field representative of the Federal Farm board.

Import Ducks To Battle Horse Fly Pests At Resort

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press

Palm Springs, Cal.—(CPA)—Out here in the desert they have refuted the old adage about the horse fly. You can fool 'em, and it's done with a duck.

Behind a swanky hotel in this Mojave winter resort there's a swanky stable full of riding horses and soon after the stable was established the horses were found to be full of flies. Naturally they were the best grade of horse flies and nobody objected over much until the flies took an interest in golf.

The golf course near the grounds of El Mirador hotel and, the desert being warmish by day, the guests like to play golf in shorts. When the horse flies discovered this fact they deserted the horses' flanks for the golfers' knees. Nothing is more annoying to a golfer about to make a hole in one than a horse fly sapping the life blood from the knee-cap. More flies than nibble shots were swatted on these links until the owner of the stable, ousted by the golfers' protests and other language, imported a flock of ducks. They are not ordinary ducks. They are a South American duck accustomed to eating box constrictors, tarantulas and other tropical fruit, though horse flies are the pabulum on which they particularly dine. Norman Farr, the stable manager, has just introduced 299 of these ducks to the vast stretches of the desert, especially in the vicinity of the horses and the golfers.

Ducks Are Quackless

Together with their other splendid characteristics the South American ducks are quackless. A very faint murmur of content after the swatting of every fly is the only sound they make. Silently they sneak up on the fly, preferably in the early dawn while it is still rubbing its eyes drowsily, and snap it up in a twinkling. Nor do they care where they have to hunt for the fly, in the rafters, in the grass, on a horse's back, or—it is averred—on a golfer's knee. South American ducks have been seen stalking the golfers, eyeing their knees with a speculative glance.

A new problem, however, has presented itself to the stable manager. His ducks have grown passionately fond of the local fly diet but, by the same token, flies have practically disappeared. The ducks, which are valuable financially as well as in the matter of fly consumption, gaze disdainfully upon corn and regular duck feed now that their appetites are whetted for great Californian desert flies. It looks as though the manager would have to import some good horse flies to keep his ducks alive.

PRICE WAR AT CHATEL

SLASHES COST OF MILK

Chetek, Wis.—(P)—The price of milk here has been reduced to 23 cents a quart as the result of a price cut war. Carl Laube cut the price from 7 to 5 cents. John Brown and Julius Forstvedt followed with a reduction of 5 to 4. Then Carlson Brothers sliced the price from 4 to 3 cents.

MALE SALAMANDERS CHANGED IN SEX BY SIAMESE TWINNING

Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry Conducts Experiments

Rochester, N. Y.—(P)—Four young male salamanders have been caused to assume gradually the structure of females, at the University of Rochester school of medicine and dentistry.

The sex changes were made by artificial Siamese twinning, an operation joining two salamanders still in the embryonic stage. The method is called parabiosis. The work was done by Robert K. Burns, Jr., of the anatomy laboratory.

The change to female is something new in vertebrate animals. Hitherto success in the rare sex changes which have been made in a few laboratories upon various small animals has been confined to converting females into males.

Even in the Rochester experiments the male dominance remains. It seems to be much easier to change a female into a male than to proceed in the opposite direction.

At the start one of these twins was a female, the other a male. Seemingly a struggle for ascendancy ensued between the sexes. In 23 instances the male partner succeeded in modifying the female, either causing her to turn into a male or to start to do so, while in four pairs the female gained definite ascendancy and changed the male.

One case exhibited an even balance, with no definite domination. In this tie there were evidence of possible conflict, for neither party developed altogether well.

The experiments suggest a chemical influence in the development of sex. This chemical factor is thought to be the hormones produced by the sex glands. These glands, like the other endocrine glands, produce hormones having direct effects upon bodily development.

Some hormones have been identified as complex chemical compounds, and some have been produced synthetically.

Other experiments show that sex glands transplanted into the body of an animal of opposite sex, are also partly changed to agree with the sex of the host animal.

POOR PEOPLE ASK UNCLE SAM TO BUY
COLLAR BUTTONS

Other Kinds of Trinkets Also Offered by Needy Residents of Cities

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—Many people are so hard up that they are trying to sell Uncle Sam their old collar buttons.

The U. S. mints and assay offices do buy gold in many forms, but it is hard to sell them any collar buttons.

Prolonged depression has brought out a great number of trinkets which have—or are suspected to have—gold or silver in them.

Watch cases, spectacles, habes' lockets and rings are articles commonly received.

Wedding rings, with dates and names or initials inside, and gold medals once given to someone as an award for something or other are among those articles which obviously once were treasured but are now being offered in the hope of cash.

Buy Only in $100 Lots

Any owner of gold or silver may deliver it to a mint or an assay office and receive the equivalent in coin, gold bars—or by check, as most sellers do. But the mints and assay offices are authorized by law to refuse less than $100 worth and they seldom accept less.

Consequently, although all manner of people offer their collar buttons, rings and other trinkets, most of the actual sales are made by pawnbrokers or by traveling buyers who purchase gold or silver articles for small sums and usually sell at a considerable profit.

In the far west, at this period, many unemployed persons have taken to placer mining, sifting the beds of streams for tiny pieces of the yellow metal.

Find Difficulty Selling

But inasmuch as the mints won't take less than $100 worth of gold, and the placer miners seldom average more than $15 worth of gold in a week, they have been finding difficulty in disposing of their gleamings.

In a few weeks there will be more water in the river and most of the placer miners now scraping the bottoms will have to turn to something else.

Miss Mary M. O'Reilly, assistant director of the Bureau of the Mint, to whom one is indebted for all this information, says that in the last year there have been received about three times as many inquiries concerning old coins. Old pieces which have heretofore been treasured or just kept tucked away somewhere are now being dragged out and their owners are writing to the treasury to find out what they are worth.

But neither the treasury nor any other government department pays any premium on coins or gives out any information as to their value among numismatists.

C. S. Buys Sweepings

Every year the government buys up scrap and sweepings from jewelers and dental laboratories. Often the mints and assay offices receive sweepings with dust, dirt and all, but no payment is ever made to anyone until the material offered has been melted and assayed to determine its value in gold or silver. The melt has to show 20 per cent or more of the pure metal in order to be purchasable.

Last year the mint bureau bought 625,000 ounces of gold in jewelers' bars, dental scrap and miscellaneous sweepings and articles and 62,000 ounces of silver in similar forms.

A set price of $2.67 an ounce is paid for gold and the current market price—lately down around 25 cents an ounce—for silver.

There are mints in Philadelphia, Denver and San Francisco and assay offices in Seattle, Boise, Helena, Salt Lake City, Carson, Nev., New Orleans and New York City. Most of the minor offerings of gold and silver are being sent by mail or express. The Bureau of the Mint here doesn't buy.

DELUGE OF BEER

Columbus, Ohio—At first employees of a local millinery company thought all the water pipes had burst in the room above. REGENTS TO TALK
OVER U. W. ATHLETICS

Madison—(AP)—The University of Wisconsin athletic department finances and personnel will come under the scrutiny of the athletic council and the physical education committee of the board of regents here Wednesday night.

Last Wednesday the two bodies met in joint session for six hours only to announce that no action had been taken relative to Glenn Thistlethwaite, head football coach. The council and the committee spent most of the time on the financial crisis.

George Little, director of athletics, carried out some of the suggestions made by the council and committee when he attended the Western Conference meeting at Chicago last weekend and carded short schedules in an effort to save money. Every avenue is being explored in an attempt to find ways and means of cutting down the $100,000 deficit in the athletic department.

While the council and regents were going about the task of weeding out non-essentials of the athletic program, the state legislature was taking cognizance of the situation.

The assembly adopted, without debate, a resolution calling for a legislative investigation of finances at the university athletic department. Senate approval of the resolution has yet to come.

Florida this year produced approximately 120,000,000 pounds of blueberries.

CAPITAL CITY ONCE MORE WITHOUT ITS FAMOUS SPEAKEASY

McGinty Fails in Attempt to Give Washington an Ideal Saloon

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Once more the capital is without a "good speakeasy."

It is back on the old basis of dark, dingy little rooms where palls of gin and bad whisky are kept in bath tubs ready for instant dumping.

And McGinty's grandiose vision of a nice, clean, well-conducted saloon for the gentry of Washington and their ladies has been cruelly smashed.

McGinty is not the real name of the hero of this saga, but it will have to do. He is widely known here and admired—for his nerve—as the only gin vendor of the town who has persistently refused to agree with all his competitors that the local law enforcement situation justified a larger investment than a shabby $30 apartment, a few old chairs, two or three jars of alcohol, a couple of palls and a bottle of gin drops.

The police have tried often to convince McGinty of his error, but as often as they closed him up his stubborn faith in an ideal has led him to resume operations elsewhere amid surroundings more luxurious and palatial than ever. His latest rise from the ashes of defeat into new quarters of breath-taking splendor has, after a brief but brilliant career of two or three months, culminated in a raid and a padlocking. That's why Washington is again without a "good" speakeasy.

White Collar Jobs
McGinty's customers were attracted from all walks of white-collar life and included a large sprinkling of college boys, newspaper men, prominent diplomats and ladies of leisure.

It was he who popularized the 35-cent gin buck in Washington. Most of his business, in fact, was done in those gin bucks, although it wasn't as if McGinty didn't have whiskies, beer and even varieties of liquors on hand at one time or another. The trade-marked McGinty gin-buck was made up of gin, fresh lime juice, lemon soda and ice. It was considered vastly superior to the ordinary gin-bucks sold in the unpretentious places for a quarter, which only had a few drops of lemon juice instead of the fresh lime juice.

McGinty's attitude was that of the old-time saloonkeeper who was always proud of his place. He always expressed confidence that the police would come to smother kindly on the only nice clean place in Washington. Once he even went to a police captain and harranged him with a demand for consideration for the "drinking element" in Washington, which he said was as much entitled to sympathy as any other element.

He always operated in the heart of the city except once when he opened an up-town branch, and became promptly involved with a cop who objected because a beer truck was blocking the alley. His speakeasy was always sure to have a bar and when McGinty and his staff were forced to move the bar was carted out in the dead of night and moved too. Three or four years ago the cops began picketing the place he had then, taking names of customers going in and out. McGinty had a buzzer system which admitted only known faces.

Raid Stand
Finally the cops grew tired of picketing and came smashing in. They did that a few times and McGinty moved off into more space, with many new features, including hand-made decorations.

He lasted much more than a year, the only downtown speakeasy admitting women. Other operators said it was fatal to admit women. The cops picketed again and then began banging on the door. Every time they banged on the door McGinty's minions dumped all the liquor. This became a rather tedious and, after the first raid, McGinty became convinced they were after him and made another change of base.

Last summer he took over a large abandoned clubhouse opposite one of the largest government bureaus. Customers could see the White House from the windows when trees were bare. This time McGinty opened a large restaurant, adjacent to the bar, with an expert chef and excellent cuisine. There was even an expensive nickel phonograph. Watchers were at the door and pushed a "dumb-buzzer" at any sign of trouble. The establishment was so huge and so well appointed that the customers gasped in ecstasies of admiration and wondered how long it would last.

The police chime gin was sold to one of their agents and they have McGinty and several of his staff on bail and there's a padlock on the door. McGinty's customers suspect that he will not try to rent a ring of the capital.

"Hunger Marchers" at Capitol

When Communistic "hunger marchers" advanced on the heavily guarded capitol at Washington as the third congress convened, one of the most interested spectators was "General" Jacob S. Coates, of Massillon, Ohio, who led his famous "Coxy's army" on Washington 39-odd years ago. Above, marchers are seen proceeding down Pennsylvania avenue toward the capitol; "General" Coates as he surveyed the marchers from the capitol steps, a policeman armed with a tear-gas gun at his side.

SHOW SOAP CARVINGS AT LAWRENCE COLLEGE

Miniature carvings of squirrels, tigers, elephants, turtles, ducks, frogs, buffaloes, and rabbits, all in perfect detail, along with busts of Thomas Edison and George Washington, as well as finely sculptured statues of Abraham Lincoln and the Venus de Milo can be seen in the display of soap carvings now on exhibition on the second floor of the Lawrence college library.

The statue of Abraham Lincoln is one of the finest of the group, being very finely done and amazing in its likeness. The Venus de Milo is also one of the features of the display, its beauty being marked even though the carving is done in extreme miniature. A small copy of Pan and his pipes is another of the many interesting subjects on display.

All of the animal carvings are life-like, showing remarkable attention to the peculiar traits of each particular animal. A carving of a stalking tiger is especially good. The exhibit can be seen at any time at the library.

Gainesville, Ala.—(AP)—It's becoming a habit with the 329 citizens of this town not to have to pay taxes. Mayor P. M. Norwood has declared a tax holiday. "We have a cash balance with no debts to pay, bonded or otherwise," the mayor said.

GOLDEN RULE WEEK SET FOR DEC. 13-20

International Movement for Relief Funds Is Non-sectarian

Next week, Dec. 13 to 20, will be International Golden Rule Week for 1931, during which time the public, through its churches, Sunday schools and committees will be asked to subscribe funds for undernourished children of unemployed miners, migrant field laborers, destitute mountaineers, and for other children relief operations at home and abroad. These philanthropic efforts are outside budgets of local community chests and relief campaigns.

The Golden Rule movement is non-sectarian and world-wide in its scope, although the majority of its activities at this time are in this country and its possessions. In addition to the unfortunates mentioned, the Golden Rule appeal will stress the plight of children of the Virgin Islands.

The chronic poverty mentioned last year by President Herbert Hoover when he visited there, has deepened into destitution and hunger, especially among the children. Governor Pearson of the Islands reports:

"Many school children come to school without any breakfast and bring only a piece of sugar or a bit of dried fish for their lunches."

Why not drive to MILWAUKEE

That's a splendid answer to those bothered with the question of WHAT TO DO OVER THE WEEK-END. With concrete roads all the way, and choice of routes, it takes an average of only a few hours to make the trip. And THEN...become the honored guest of the hotel that is KEEPING Milwaukee famous...THE SCHROEDER. It is the largest, finest and most modern hotel in a city noted for hospitality and prosperity. APPLETON TO JOIN IN SAFETY CONTEST

Chamber of Commerce Is Anxious to Reduce City Traffic Accidents

Appleton next month will join in a country-wide traffic safety contest to be conducted by the National Safety Council. Special efforts are now being made by the chamber of commerce, through a special committee headed by Carlton Sackner, to reduce traffic accidents in this city.

The nation-wide contest is to be open to every city, town and village in the United States, and will consist of inter-city competition, between municipalities of similar size, for lowered traffic accident death rates through improved traffic law enforcement and public education.

Awards are to be made to the "safest cities" in each group, for the best in all groups, and for the state making the best showing. Cities entering the contest are to be divided into groups according to population as follows: Over 500,000; 250,000 to 500,000; 100,000 to 250,000; 50,000 to 100,000; 25,000 to 50,000; and under 25,000.

Finland will reduce government expenditures.

New York—A balance sheet shows capital liabilities at a glance. If there is no funded indebtedness the stock has first claim on earnings. Inasmuch as dividends are payable at the discretion of the directors there are no compulsory charges, "fixed charges" is the term generally used.

If there is bonded indebtedness carried on the liability side the question arises as to its maturity dates. That will not show in the balance sheet but the information is easily obtained and is essential to any analysis of the company's position. If the bonds do not fall due for some years hence they do not affect the ratio between current assets and current liabilities but if they are of nearly maturity provision must be made to meet them either by refunding or out of cash on hand.

Balance sheets differ in the amount of data they give on this point. The U. S. Rubber Company has an issue of serial gold notes outstanding due annually on the first of March up to 1940. In its balance sheet as of June 30th last the installment due on these notes on March 1, 1932 is carried as a current liability. This is conservative

DROP MANSLAUGHTER CASE AGAINST WOMAN

Stevens Point—(AP)—A charge of first degree manslaughter filed against Mrs. Charlotte Seefeld, wife of the president of a Milwaukee Furniture company, was dismissed by Circuit Judge Byron B. Park late Monday on motion of District Attorney John Meleski.

The charge resulted from the death of Sheriff William Berg of Woodco, who was injured last July 16 when his car collided with that driven by Mrs. Seefeld near Nelsonville, Wis.

Judge Park was advised the sheriff's widow had received a financial settlement and did not wish to prosecute.

bookkeeping and inspires confidence in the whole showing. It could possibly have been included with other funded debt. If it had been so included the amount due on this installment would have to be deducted from cash on hand by the analyst before a correct conclusion would have been reached.

Very recently American Sugar Refining and Standard Oil of New Jersey, both of which have sizeable bonded indebtedness outstanding, announced the calling for retirement of a block of their bonds. The money necessary was provided out of cash resources. Ability to cut down indebtedness this way was foreshadowed in their respective balance sheets with the large showing of cash on hand. Often a balance sheet will reveal a position of this kind insuring a high investment rating for the bonds.

Clown Prince—and Crown Prince

Maybe it was his association with royalty that gave Charles Chaplin the idea of writing—and acting in—a play about Napoleon Bonaparte. Anyhow, here's the famed film comedian as he appeared last night at dinner recently with the Prince of Wales at Grosvenor House, Park Lane, England. It has been reported that Chaplin will star in a serious stage drama, of his own authorship, based on the theory that Napoleon escaped from St. Helena.

CHIROPRACTORS WILL MEET AT GREEN BAY

A meeting of the northeastern district of the Wisconsin Chiropractic association will be held Friday evening at Beaumont hotel, Green Bay. Dinner will be served at 6.30. Dr. J.

A. Panneck, Appleton, will talk on "Chiropractic and the Law."

Los Angeles—(AP)—Police here. Then he exhibited a bullet in the emblem on his cap and told his superiors of a fight with two burglars. But a ballistics expert got busy. He said the bullet had been fired by the officer himself.

Clothing Is Given Out To 60 Families

Approximately 1,000 garments were distributed to about 60 needy families of this city Monday at clothing headquarters of the Appleton Welfare and Relief council in the basement of Hotel Northern Monday, according to Mrs. Hugu Dresely, who is in charge of the clothing room.

There was a special session of people into the room Monday morning and afternoon. Mrs. Dresely presented requests for supplies of clothing and gave them to them by retail.

The clothing room will be opened from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1:30 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon until the committee decides to keep the room open only in the afternoon. Mrs. Dresely said. Eventually requests will be given only from 1:30 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Between 7:00 and 8:00 p.m. people were gathered in the room and society valley council members. On Saturday, Nov. 21, 1931, members brought in approximately 1,000 bundles of clothing and last Saturday they gathered between 4 and 10 bundles in various parts of the city.

No bird has so inspired the fancy and superstition of men as has the raven.

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

Paul H. Maloney

New Orleans—(AP)—Paul Herbert Maloney, 55, was born in New Orleans on St. Valentine's day.

Paul H. Maloney

Since boyhood his major interest has been business and he has shunned politics. He was elected to the national house of representatives from the second Louisiana district almost seven years ago.

"I still have no political ambitions," he says. "I was sitting on my front porch one evening back in 1928 when some neighbors passed on their way to a precinct meeting."

"They had to beg me to join them as I had no interest particularly in the meeting as it time had been the limit of my political activities."

"I was elected precinct treasurer at that time. I have held that

PATRONAGE OF CO-EDS IS SOUGHT BY STORES

Washington—(AP)—The college girl is stepping into the limelight along with the debutante and the bride. Her patronage is being sought by stores, reports of the department of commerce reveal.

A midwestern store maintains a "college board" to advise girl students on college wardrobes and equipment.

The "board" starts its contact with the co-ed while she is still a senior in high school through a girl representative in school activities. She builds up good will for the store among her associates in the class room.

Parched or toasted? No, sir! CAMELS are FRESH!

THE bedrock of Camel popularity is the inherently fine quality of the tobaccos that go into our cigarette.

These tobaccos are notably mild, full-mellow, delicately flavored by nature—the finest Turkish and mild, sun-ripened Domestic tobaccos that money can buy.

To safeguard the essential goodness of these fine tobaccos we exercise every care to conserve their natural moisture and natural flavors.

They are never parched or toasted—the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we say Camels are made fresh to start with—and why the Camel Humidor Pack can bring them fresh to you, in prime smoking condition.

If you want to know what a blessing that means in unalloyed smoke-enjoyment, switch to Camels for just one day—then leave them—if you can.

GAME BIRDS TO BE FED DURING WINTER MONTHS

Three Groups to Cooperate in Establishing Feeding Stations

A movement inaugurated by the Outagamie Fish and Game Protective association for providing winter feeding stations for game birds such as pheasants, prairie chicken and partridges in the county has been endorsed by the Boy Scouts and the local chapter of the Izaak Walton League and all three bodies will cooperate to carry through a comprehensive winter relief program.

Hortonville and Stephenville members of the association have already constructed several feeding stations and are planning to build more. Last Saturday Kenneth Lee, Marvin Berger, Walton Steiner, James Seekin, Howard Knaack, Anthony Kolitsch, Lee Wilson, Anthony Hoolihan, Gordon Heide and George Breitung, Appleton Boy Scouts, accompanied by Oscar Kuntz and John Mass, drove out to the Ellington Wild Life refuge where they were met by Conrad Schwab and Charles Steidl of Stephenville under whose direction two feeding stations protected by brush and cornstalks were erected. While this work was being done a detachment drove out to the Rehen farm in Greenville where a third station was erected under the direction of Fred Rehen.

The hoppers for these feeding stations were built in the manual training department of McKinley high school, by boy scouts under the direction of Walter Fox. They are large enough to hold about a bushel of grain and are so constructed that as the grain is eaten from the feeding trough by the birds additional grain will drop down from the storage bin, thus making it necessary to visit the feeding stations only at intervals to replenish the supply of food.

The brush shelters built over these hoppers are designed to prevent snow from drifting in and filling the feeding troughs.

Next Thursday evening a meeting is to be held at the village hall in Black Creek to discuss plans for organizing sportsmen in the northern part of the county and to establish a number of feeding stations in that section. The meeting is being called by Henry Brandt of Black Creek.

Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS WILL HEAR REPORTS

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. will meet at 7:30 Thursday evening at the association to hear reports from employed officers and various committees. Regular monthly business also will be transacted. The budget committee then will meet a few days later and consider the 1932 budget and financial outlook.

CAN'T STOP STONES COMING IN FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY

Durand, Wis.—(P)—One can't convince Lloyd Lobdell he isn't living in the stone age. He will point to big and small, regular and irregular stones to prove it in explaining it all started when he and Mrs. Lobdell decided a fireplace built of a stone from each state in the Union would be just the thing for their summer cabin.

Letters were sent out and stones came back. Even from 31 foreign countries. They've got the fireplace and more than a few to spare.

For where it once was a question of how to get distinctive stones it's now a question on how to stop getting them. And they are still coming.

OIL CONSERVATION POLICIES ATTACKED

New Mexico Senator Plans to Offer Bill Compelling Permits

Washington—(P)—A campaign against the oil conservation policies of the administration will be opened in the senate by Bronson Cutting, Republican, New Mexico.

Cutting will put before the senate this afternoon, if possible, a bill requiring the interior department to issue permits for seeking and developing oil resources in the public domain.

By executive order nearly two years ago Secretary Wilbur cancelled thousands of prospecting permits and the department since has refused to issue any in furtherance of the administration's conservation policy.

The legality of the administration's policy has been upheld in the supreme court. Meanwhile Acting Chairman Page of the tariff commission informed the house today that although the commission had completed its study of the cost of petroleum production it had not had time to prepare a report.

"The report will be completed and submitted to the president and you within a few days," Page wrote.

More than 500 householders have agreed to supply part time employment at odd jobs about their homes as a result of the intensive campaign conducted by the legion. The workers will be paid at the rate of 40 cents per hour. In addition the legion found places for between 40 and 50 women on a part time basis. Each householder was asked to supply two hours work each week during the winter months.

Charity Benefits As Legion Stages Its Greatest Fight Card

COTTER DEFEATS AHL, WEST WINS OVER BOB BROWN

Hank Rasmussen, Van Ess, Champeau, Sparky Ahl Also Winners

BY GORDON R. McINTYRE

WHEN in the course of human events it becomes necessary to hold fights for charity purposes and one Mr. H. W. Miller, matchmaker for Okey Johnson post of the American legion, goes out and gets the best scraps the town has to offer, it is not for the sake of a good fight in each and every round, but for the sake of a few words to describe the brawl.

And that's the way we feel as we sit here and ponder over this particular story. There were six fights on last night's card, and they were fights, and how! Leather from first going to the last, every one of the youngsters giving everything he had, and then some. A couple of dictionaries and thesauruses or whatever they are, all scrambled up haven't enough adjectives and nouns and what nots to tell about them.

But there was an Appleton youngster on that fight card last night, and being a good home town boy, he was going to give his first play in this story. The particular chap is a West who is no stranger to Appleton fight fans nor to his milk route patrons.

ART WEST IMPRESSES

West drew for his opponent a youngster named Bobby Brown of the Waupun Browns. If you please, a youngster a bit taller and possessed of a slightly longer jab. After watching the first skirmish he saw two things in sight for which he was not prepared. One was the most sensational manner and combed decision. As we said, the first skirmish looked bad for West for he was short on reach and height. But Art stood his ground and never expressed an emotion. Then soon he stuck out a left that put Bobby's head back on his shoulders. The mixed and tame fight was over. Bobby was knocked and he boxed and he blocked blows and he looked great.

Throughout the second round Art continued his work of the first; he jabbed beautifully with that left and he clocked Bobby a couple of times with his right. Of course Bobby wasn't standing around letting Art have things his own way, don't get that idea. For the Waupun boy often uncorked a right hand blow that had a curve on it like Lefty Grove's best hook and several times caught Art in the midsection.

West had a margin in the second round and in the third he had things pretty much his own way, at least enough to smile at a few of the ring side folks. Of course Art was the main feature of the card, rather it was the youngster's improvement in punching, boxing and protecting himself.

But we can't say any more about Art for there were five other bouts and before we get all jumbled up let's start with the last one, Lyle Drake and Hank Rasmussen of Appleton.

Rasmussen Evens Score

Several weeks ago they fought and Hank lost. Last night Hank won in a thrilling, gory finish and it seemed he had lost the edge.

During the first two rounds Razz pulled up a flock of points by smacking Lyle with everything except a lamp post from in front of the armory.

Lyle showed no defense at all but his offense often carried the fight. Hank was forced him to back up and cover up.

When the third round opened Hank had the edge. Then Lyle busted him one on the nose and mouth that started a stream of blood flowing and the Racine youth who now calls Appleton home appeared to be badly hurt. But he chased Lyle around the ropes and let a body blow that dumped the Waupun boy on the canvas for a nine count.

Drake then got up and attempted to reach the gory Rasmussen but Hank kept him off and kept pointing away with both hands. Near the end of the round Razz dumped Lyle again and when the bell finally sounded the boys fell into a clinch both so tuckered out they could hardly stagger to their corners.

And no doubt they whispered to each other, "Boy, what a swell fight. And it was."

Cotter Beats Ahl

The fifth bout of the evening, the semi or part of the double window whatever you want to call it, showed Harold Cotter, of Kaukauna and Ahl Ahl in a forearm engagement. Cotter was the favorite, but he couldn't even matters for the K. O. Hans gave him several weeks ago.

Ahl started the fight in a usual manner, boxing his opponent but moving about faster and making a most difficult target. Cotter on the other hand rushed his opponent and showed he had worked on and apparently mastered a defense for that overhead right and made a sucker out of him in other fights.

He carried his right hand high and alongside his jaw and Hans connected once with a blow that really hurt. In the first frame Cotter had a slight edge probably because he tipped Hans once for no count. In the second frame Cotter landed hard about Ahl's head although Hans also got in more than a few hard wallop himself. Cotter was scoring the better of the two.

In the third frame Cotter eluded Ahl into a corner or against the ropes on several occasions and peppered him about the head and occasionally to the body. In Hans' favor, however, it did not seem he was hurt for on one occasion, after a sharp exchange, Hans lifted Cotter bodily and showed him half a dozen across the ring. But all in all, Harold had the edge in aggressiveness and hard blows.

Sideline Story

FUNNY things sometimes occur on a football field and they say this actually happened in one of Notre Dame's games this season:

One of the Irish linemen, seeking to pep up his playmates, was striding back and forth just before each play, slapping the linemen resolutely and barking: "Get in there and fight for Rockne!"

Up and down the line he'd go. "Slap! Slap!" "Get in there and fight for Rockne!" It was having its effect. The Irish were getting fighting mad.

Whereupon the opponent playing opposite the slapping lineman decided to pull a fast one. After a scrimmage he walked past the referee.

"Listen," he said. "That guy plays opposite me is taking a pose at me on nearly every play. I wish you'd watch him."

"Sure," said the ref.

The lad went back to his spot opposite the barking Irish lineman.

"Come on, gang!" yelled the latter. "Get in there and fight for Rockne!"

"Oh, yeah?" sneered the opposing lineman. "Who was this Rockne?"

"I'll show you on this play, you so-and-so," snapped the barking lineman.

The ball was snapped. The linemen crashed. The first of the barking ed in the fourth fight of the evening and we've a sneaking hunch Leo has a girl friend in Appleton and wanted to keep a date. No sooner had the bell sounded than he dashed from his corner, swarmed over Worthington like the measles and luffed away so merrily the Fond du Lac youth was on the floor in no time wondering who had turned loose in wild cat.

At the count of nine Bob got up and indicated he would try to weather the storm. But he couldn't stay away from Leo who landed a hard left to the body and Bob went out, badly hurt and sick after one minute and 30 seconds.

The third bout of the evening was the Luke Ebel-Van Ess brawl and we hear two freight cars come together.

Well, that's the way it sounded when those two chaps landed on each other's chin or landed a body blow. Boy, they hurt way down in the last row.

Van Ess won the rumpus either on decision or in the last second of the third round, for if the scrap had gone another ten seconds Referee Freddie Andrews probably would have ended it with a technical K. O. in Van Ess' favor.

Both boys are well known stockmen; they like like an express train and they both can take it. Ebel appeared in better physical condition of the two and after they had slugged through two rounds with honors even, it appeared Luke would get the nod. Maybe he would had he stayed away from Van.

Ebel did and in the third frame he chased the Green Bay boy around the ring and caught a pie drive right on the jaw. His knees sagged and he hung on and tried to stay in close as Van tried to free himself and land a haymaker.

Ebel out on feet.

The tactics soon gave Luke's head time to clear but not too much and when he again ran into one of those rights he was in a heavy sea, mates, a heavy sea. Van Ess then cutted him from pillar to post. Ebel obviously out on his feet just as Andrews was getting ready to stop the brawl the bell ended the rumpus. It was a great fight.

Art West and Bobby Brown appeared in the second go and we've told you about that; all except one thing.

What would you do if the right hander you had been fighting for a round and a half suddenly became a southpaw boxer, then changed to a right hander and finished a southpaw? That's one of the things that confronted West for Brown is an ambidextrous yuck. You'll find that word on page 65 of one of Mr. Webster's old ways and can fight almost any way.

Sparky Ahl and Chuck Chenewick of Manitowish fought in the curtain raiser, and as if to give the folks an indication of what was coming, they staged a nice fight. Sparky showed himself a pretty fair boxer but he's inclined to be a rough house fighter for he hit any time he got a chance particularly on breaks. He left the first round and a half of the opening round but Chenewick came in in the last half to pound Sparky hard and win an even break.

Both boys worked hard through out the second frame, Chuck keeping around like a porcupine and scoring when he could. Sparky jabbing right with his left. Often the would stop and stand to the side and stare at his opponent. Ahl appeared in slightly better condition as the round ended.

When the third frame started Chenewick although very tired kept rushing his opponent, and down a seeing nothing. He failed to land more than a half dozen unces and we thought it was this that gave Sparky the decision.

Not a Record Crowd

No record crowd, but a mighty nice crowd saw the fights, enjoyed them every minute of the time, and contributed a neat sum to Appleton charities. Freddie Andrews was the referee and to him goes part of the credit for the good fight we saw the boys keep at it every minute.

Judge Fred V. Heineken was an announcer and his honor, Mr. John Goodland, Jr., was Staus bell manager otherwise known as the timer.

Mr. Billy Hoo, that famous sports scribbler and publicity hand informed the writer shortly before the boys went on that the feature attraction between Ray "Tiger" Stark and Chet

BOB ASHMAN JOINS FOND DU LAC PROS

Bob Ashman, Appleton, has joined his brother Rod with the Fond du Lac Cardinals, it has been announced by the management of the down lake quintet. Bob played against the Cards the other night with the Fox Aces and Fondy liked him so well he has been signed by the pros.

Tonight the Cards are playing the Stevens Point Forester team which features Eddie Kotal, former Lawrence coach and now at the Point, in one of the star roles.

THIRSTY WILL LEARN HIS FATE TONIGHT

Wisconsin Faculty Opposed to Ouster; Little May Go Too

Madison (P)—Final disposition of the question of retaining head football coach Glenn Thistlethwaite at the University of Wisconsin was expected here before midnight.

For the second time within 10 days the athletic council was called into session to discuss the coaching situation as well as matters pertaining to the financial end of the athletic program at the university.

Agitation for the dismissal of Thistlethwaite started a year ago after a more or less disastrous season for the Badgers and it was renewed at the end of the 1931 season when the team dropped three conference games.

The faculty apparently is back of the coach inasmuch as it adopted a resolution this week which states that action taken by the athletic council must have its approval before it is submitted to the board of regents. Recently 11 members of the faculty petitioned the board of regents for a thorough investigation before any decision regarding the coach is made.

Inasmuch as the athletic department has a $76,000 deficit as a result of meager football attendance this year the council was expected to take additional steps toward a reduction of expenses. While nothing definite has been announced it was considered likely that the personnel of the coaching group would be reduced. The state legislature has taken cognizance of salaries paid coaches in resolutions offered for adoption in the assembly.

Rumors that a reorganization of the athletic department may be effected that would result in a change in the position of director of athletics were also circulating here as the athletic council prepared to meet. George Little is the present director of athletics.

FORDHAM GRIDDER IN SERIOUS CONDITION

New York (P)—John Szymanski, 20-year-old Fordham University football player, was still in a critical condition in Fordham hospital today from injuries suffered in the Fordham-Bucknell game Nov. 21.

Szymanski, whose left side was paralyzed by an unexplained injury, was showing steady improvement all Monday afternoon when he suffered a relapse. Since then his condition has been the cause of grave concern to attending physicians. Szymanski's home is in New Britain, Conn.

The Bucknell game already has cost the life of one Fordham player. Cornelius Murphy, whom Szymanski relieved at a tackle position, died last week after he had been believed out of danger.

Reports that Fordham was considering the abolition of football brought an outright denial from an official spokesman for the school last night.

BEARS, WOLVERINES CONTINUE WINNING IN O. B. CAGE LOOP

Third Game Sees Warner Theatres Rally and Defeat A. I. R. Five

BOTH the Bears and the Wolverines continued their winning ways in the Older Boy league of the Y. M. C. A. last night, the Bears who now call themselves the Petts, winning from Beta Hi-Y team, 13 and 4, and the Wolverines copping from Delta Hi-Y, 15 and 9.

In the other game of the evening, the Warner Theatres beat the A. I. R. team by a score of 17 and 10.

The Petts or Bears let their guards do the heavy work last night as they chalked up their win. Gene DeYoung sunk three buckets, Jim Neller one and Heule one, as the Bears took an 11 to 4 lead.

In the second half Heule scored a lone field goal for the Bears and that was all the scoring for either team.

Frankie Dean copped three field goals in the first half of the Wolverine-Delta Hi-Y game, and his center, the Wolves, were out in front 9 and 7 at the end of the period.

In the second half the Wolves counted three field goals and the Deltas had a lot of hard luck with shots in the second half.

The other game of the evening saw the Warner Theatres come from behind in the second half and win from the Antis by a 17 and 10 count.

In the first half the A. I. R. scored four field goals and led 8 and 5 when the long rest came. In the last half the Theatres coined five field goals and two free throws and romped through to victory.

IMPRESSIVE IN PRACTICE WITH KIMBERLY CLUB

Villagers Beaten Last Night 27-7 Frosh and Orange in Workout

LAWRENCE college basketball team will open the current season tomorrow evening at new Alexander gymnasium when the team meets St. Norbert college five of De Pere. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

The game is the first of three practice games for the Vikings this weekend. After Thursday night's fracas, the Lawrence squad will hop aboard the train for Marquette, Mich., where Marquette teachers will be the opponent Friday night and Michigan School of Mines at Houghton, Mich., Saturday night.

Last night the Lawrence squad was sent against Kimberly club's aggregation at the gym and the collegians won by a 27 and 7 count. The Vikes looked good last night giving Kimberly a few open shots and most of those near the end of the game. The team handled the ball very well and pleased Coach Arthur C. Denney.

The combination of Bill Colbert and Bert Hall at forwards, Sid Felts working the center and Mike Goch-nauer and Willis Haase, guards, clicked nicely.

Frosh, Orange Battle

Tuesday evening Lawrence freshmen held their regular workout and battled against Appleton high school's first and second teams. The first squads put up a royal battle during the time they scrimmaged, for the Orange five is a neat combination and there are some nice cagers on the freshman five.

Defensive play and stalling also were worked on by the squads, the Orange under the direction of Coach Joseph Shields and the freshmen under direction of Coach Denney.

The practice was so successful that the two mentors plan a series of practices for the two squads the remainder of the season.

The high school squad again is intact, Bill Peotter having returned to the squad suffering no trouble from his knee injury at Marshfield. The trouble at Marshfield was not recurrence of the old injury, Peotter said, but rather a slight strain that bothered him just a few minutes.

Appleton's quinter opens the Valley conference season Friday evening at East Green Bay. The Orange last week beat Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield while East took a one point trimming from Shawano.

GUS THE GOAT LOSES IN MILWAUKEE RING

Defeated by Joe Malcewicz in Two Falls Out of Three

MILWAUKEE (P)—Gus Sonnenberg, heavyweight wrestler, suffered his first defeat in 19 appearances in Milwaukee tug and grunt shows when he lost two out of three falls to Joe Malcewicz, Milwaukee grappler, at the Auditorium last night.

The match ended when Sonnenberg butted his opponent and himself out of the ring and Malcewicz got back into the arena in 15 seconds where he took Sonnenberg fully a minute to regain his equilibrium.

About 3,500 fans attended the show.

Sonnenberg, former world's champion, pinned Malcewicz in 25 seconds

GRIMES MAY BE TRADED TO CUBS, HACK TO CARDS

Indians Would Like to Give Morgan for Kress of the Browns

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, pitching hero of the 1931 world series, may be wearing a Chicago Cub uniform next season, and Hack Wilson, dethroned home run king of the major leagues, today appeared certain of becoming a member of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals.

A trade involving the spitball hurler who pitched the Cardinals to two victories in their world series over the Athletics last autumn, and Wilson, was a big possibility today as the National and American leagues went into the second day of their annual meetings.

It was reliably reported last night that the Cubs had just about decided to make a cash deal with Brooklyn, when the Cardinals came up with a three-way proposition, offering either Grimes, Ernie Osrutti or George Watkins, outfielders, for Wilson and cash in varying amounts. Manager Rogers Hornsby and President William L. Veeck of the Cubs went into a huddle, and finally decided to make no decision on the Brooklyn or Cardinal proposals until today. Hornsby was said to favor the Grimes deal, although either of the young outfielders, would be welcome additions to the Cub roster.

Indians Want Kress
While the Cubs appeared to be unsundering their player deal tangles, the Cleveland Indians were still having trouble. The Indians want Ralph Kress of the St. Louis Browns, and are willing to give Eddie Morgan, a .356 hitter, but rather indifferent fielding first baseman, for him. The Browns, however, do not care so much about Morgan but would be glad to have Earl Averill, the Indians' star outfielder, with whom Cleveland is not willing to part.

A trade which would send outfielder Sammy Byrd of the New York Yankees, to the Browns in exchange for pitcher George Blaholder, also was discussed.

The radio broadcasting problem, which had promised to be troublesome, was left as is, when it was learned that one club already had signed contracts for 1932. The American league adopted a resolution under which no club may sign radio

Sports Question Box

Q. Who has been fighting longest, Tony Canzoneri or Kid Chocolate?

A. Tony Canzoneri has been fighting eleven years both as an amateur and professional. Chocolate is also a graduate of the amateur ranks but has had only seven years in the game.

Q. May a coacher call to the pitcher to throw the ball to him and if the pitcher does throw the ball and the coacher says away may the runner on first base go to second?

A. Yes. The pitcher should never throw the ball to any one except the umpire on demand. It is the sportsmanlike baseball for the coacher to call for the ball but the pitcher or should be about.

ANCIENT WISCONSIN PRINCESS ON EXHIBIT

Milwaukee—(AP)—One of Wisconsin's prehistoric princesses, who was so important she was buried loaded with 2,000 shell dish heads, has been placed on view in the Milwaukee public museum exactly as the anthropologists found her.

She lived hundreds of years ago at Aztalan, the remarkable walled village of the Cahokia culture, on the Crawford River near Lake Monona, Jefferson-co.

The exhibit was arranged to show the public what prehistoric burial look like.

HE'S A MEAN THIEF

Wichita, Kas. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Langford think the thief who stole their savings bank containing $10 is the meanest in the world. The Langfords just married were saving small change in the bank in order to accumulate enough to pay taxes. And it's only a month until taxes are due.

U. S. BIG SOUVENIR, SAYS JOSEE AS SHE RETURNS TO STUDIES

Miss Laval Returns With French Premier After American Visit

Paris—(AP)—Josée Laval again is treading in her father's footsteps. Back in Paris after her trip to Washington, she is following the example of the French premier by plunging into work.

Josée has turned her back on parties and similar frivolities and returned to the study of law in which she hopes to earn a degree as her father did in his youth.

"I may never practice law," she says. "But I want to have some respect, some interest in life. I have sports but I won't play tennis or ping-pong all the time as I did on the Ile de France on the way to and from New York."

Dressed in a silver black frock, a black hat and black chapeau, Josée may be seen these days coming and going in the courtyard below the five where the French premier is working on the problems of France.

Often she carries her own tea, but she has a number of friends at the University of Paris.

Between classes she goes to find time for sports of which she has been fond since childhood and she is said to be a very good swimmer.

Her visit to the United States, Josée characterizes as "very large and beautiful souvenir."

Among her most cherished memories of that trip are a dinner given her by President Hoover and a meeting with the moving picture film of the United States Navy football game which was unable to see and the latter inviting her to give the "standard illuminating" the Statue of Liberty.

"Washington" is her favorite word for describing her visit to New York.

"Next time I am going to make a long stay," she says. "I want to go west and south—especially to Chicago and California."

COUNCIL VOTES AGAINST SEWER WORK THIS YEAR

Decides to Install Water Mains, Sewers at Same Time in Spring

Kaukauna—No sewers will be laid on Tenth-st this winter, it was decided at a special meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. No work will be done on this project until spring, when it is planned to install water mains at the same time to save expense.

Low ground is found on Tenth-st and a three foot fill of ground would be required if sewers were laid. This can be done better in spring, it was pointed out.

The water line will be extended on Highway 41 from the turn at Lawest to McKimley-st, the aldermen decided. No sewers will be put in, but the water main extension will soon be started. Need for the extension was pointed out by Alderman Walter Cooper.

A report on the cost of laying sewer on Tenth-st from Crooks ave to Hendricks-ave was submitted to the council by F. M. Charlesworth, city engineer. The estimate on the cost of the sewer was $1,127.45 and for the filling on the road $1,290. Engineering and miscellaneous would cost $120, bringing the entire estimated cost to $2,537.45. Of the total $22,89 would be paid by the property owners and the balance, $1,724.55 by the city.

The project was thoroughly discussed before the decision to lay the matter over to spring was made. It was said that a large part of the cost would have to be borne by the property owners and that they would be better prepared to meet the expense after the winter. Money in the city treasury also would be increased with the taxes and the expense will not be felt so greatly by the city.

STEINBERG HERD HAS BEST RECORD IN DAIRY GROUP

Grade Guernseys Produce 743 Lbs. Milk or 33.1 Lbs. Butterfat

The highest producing herd in the Ellington Outagamie Dairy Herd Improvement association in November was owned by Leonard Steinberg of Hortonville. His herd of grade Guernseys averaged 743 pounds of milk or 33.1 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 4.6 per cent. The second high herd was a group of grade and registered Holsteins owned by John Dobberstein, Hortonville, which produced an average of 745 pounds of milk or 24.3 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 3.32 per cent.

The highest producing cow in the herd was a grade Holstein owned by Albert Kaufman, which produced 1,419 pounds of milk or 69.3 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 4.8 per cent. The second high cow was a grade Guernsey owned by Alvin Handschke which produced 1,443 pounds of milk or 61.8 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 4.7 per cent.

Roughage fed to cows throughout the association is rather poor, according to Milton Handschke, official tester of the association. Some farmers are feeding beet pulp in place of silage and are obtaining good results. About three pounds soaked in water and fed each day is recommended. It can be fed wet or dry.

Following is a list of cows which produced 50 pounds or more of butterfat last month:

TO BREAK UP A COLD IN A JIFFY

Feel Like a New Person In Just a Little While

People have found out that new-fangled ideas and notions don't break up colds. So millions have turned back to first principles and use what they know breaks one up in a jiffy. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to trifle with.

The thing to do is to get Hill's Cascara Quinine at any drug store. Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all.

Soon you'll start to feel like a new person. Things will loosen up, your head will clear, aching go—you'll be back on the job with a wallop.

Get Hill's now. It is a scientific formula made to do one thing well; to knock a cold—not to cure a thousand ailments. Get your money back if it doesn't work with twice the speed of anything else you've ever tried.

OPPOSITION TO DEBENTURE IS VOICED BY HYDE

Secretary Also Opposes Equalization Fee in Annual Report

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Hyde considers agricultural rehabilitation dependent upon more European buying, and smaller home crops. In his annual report to President Hoover, he challenged farmers anew to rally against surpluses. Opposition to the export debenture and equalization fee was reiterated in these words:

"No device can be a remedy which pluses. Actually to reduce these surpluses is the only logical course. They cannot be forced into unwilling markets."

"The credit and purchasing power of Europe must be restored," he said. "This is essential not only for European welfare but for our own, because we shall need the foreign market indefinitely for some of our products."

"American agriculture must adjust itself to a declining export trade. As the standard, this need will persist, no matter how favorably matters develop in Europe, because our production is over-expanded in relation to Europe's wants. Should Europe's economic recovery be slow, the necessity for diminishing our farm exports will be the more pressing."

But in reducing farm production, Hyde opposed compulsory laws to bring it about as designed by some southern legislatures. He urged the need for curbing acreage and livestock breeding by voluntary action, saying as well:

"The doctrine that production can be better controlled by law than by the judgment and decisions of producers is probably repugnant to our constitution and certainly repugnant to the character of our economic

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

DASHING THE CUP OF PROMISE

When a player holds King, Queen, Ten of trumps over the Declarer and the contract has reached six, he cannot be charged with undue optimism if he feels confident of his ability to defeat the contract. He is the unduly reckless if he decides that his opponents shall play it at the doubled value. However, the possession of this trump combination, even if held to the left of the Ace, does not always guarantee a trump trick as Mr. Isak Nielsen, editor of the Nordisk Bridge Magazine of Oslo, Norway recently proved. Mr. Nielsen held the South hand and was playing the Approach-Forcing System.

South that there was only one possible combination that would justify West in feeling that he could defeat the contract. Every face card with the exception of the Knave of clubs and the King and Queen of spades was visible to the Declarer in his own and the Dummy Hand. It therefore followed that West must hold the three outstanding trumps. To make the contract it was essential to reduce both the closed and Dummy Hands to three trumps and to throw West in on the eleventh trick with one of his high honors in trumps and thus compel him to lead to the Knave in the closed hand. To do this it was necessary to shorten South's trumps by ruffing good hearts and shorten the Dummy twice in trumps by ruffing clubs.

This process was accomplished, the tenth trick being taken in the closed hand. South now led the eight of spades and West's situation was hopeless. He won the trick, but was then compelled to lead, as South had planned, from his minor tenace in the trump suit, thus permitting Mr. Nielsen to make his redoubt contract by accurate play.

TODAY'S POINTER
Question: What is the Rule of Eight?
Answer: The proportion of tricks won by honors to those won by small cards is about as 85.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED
Mr. Culbertson will be glad to answer questions on bidding and play of hands sent in by readers. Address him in care of this newspaper, enclosing a TWO-CENT STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE.

North and South's bidding has not been unduly optimistic. South holds 5 honor-tricks and a strong playing hand with a 5-4-3-1 distribution. North holds five trumps and a solid heart suit with honors in diamonds. The only marvel is that a contract of seven was not reached, but this is explained by the weakness of the trump suit.

When the Dummy was exposed after West had opened the only unbid suit, diamonds, it was apparent to system. Production adjustments are more necessary now than they were a year ago. Appeals made then for voluntary concerted action met with an inadequate response. It has been inferred that voluntary action must fail unless supported by legal action. This does not necessarily follow.

"Acreage cuts and reductions in

RUNS GAMING PLACE TO HELP POOR, NEGRO TELLS DETROIT JUDGE

Detroit—(AP)—Frank Loftus pleaded guilty to operating a gaming establishment Monday although he was careful to explain to Recorder's Judge John V. Brennan, all he does is "take from them that has and give it to them that hasn't."

Loftus, a Negro, said he uses most of the proceeds from his policy game to provide two meals a day for 134 persons who otherwise would be dependent upon the city. Ninety-nine other Negroes, accused of frequenting the gaming establishment, said they were recipients of his charity.

Judge Brennan permitted Loftus to fix his own fine. The defendant said he thought $40 would be about right. If his co-defendants were liberated, Judge Brennan agreed.

FOREIGN STUDENTS INVITED TO HOMES

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin citizens in increasing numbers are inviting to their homes for weekend visits foreigners who are students at the University of Wisconsin. Several residents of Waupaca were the first to have a group of foreigners in their homes, and now parties have been arranged in Beaver Dam, Portage, Columbus, Delavan, Hartford, Menominee Falls, Tomah, Oconomowoc and Wausau.

Many foreign students here are in training for automatic services of their homelands. Consequently they are pleased to get glimpses of intimate American home life. The plan of entertaining foreigners was originated by Paul Hunter, Madison real estate dealer. He is secretary of the Madison Rotary club which for eight years has entertained foreign students at a banquet in February.

acquired. If they are not, legislative action will meet with resistance."

For agriculture's long-time adjustment to changing conditions, Hyde restated the need for a sound land policy which would take unprofitable lands out of production, consolidate smaller communities, adjust tax burdens and insure adequate reforestation.

Your Birthday

WHAT TOMORROW MEANS TO YOU

"SAGITTARIUS"

If December 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7:50 a. m. to 9:30 a. m., from 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m. and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:45 a. m. to noon, and from 4 p. m. to 8 p. m.

The materialization of preconceived plans is far from a certainty on this date, and it will be little foxes that spoil the vine. Influence presented under false colors. Children will play a major part in the day's program.

The child born on this December 10th will have a thirst for knowledge, and will not like to be pushed in its school work. It will have a long bent for business, and should enter the commercial or industrial professions with a view toward financial success and power.

Born on December 10th, you live boldly, have faith in yourself, and turn a deaf ear to all the wisecracks who have tried to pour gloom or unasked advice into your ears. Circumstances, and your own conscience, are the ruling factors in your life. You are often able to change the former, but you obey the dictates of your inner self as regards to right living and right actions.

Insincerity is not a defect in your character, and you seldom even stoop to the utterance of so-called social lies in order to save your face to placate any other person or to gloss over material differences. There is no doubt that your candor is feared as well as liked, but you do not know what to "crush."

Those who pass out the "knee" create a transitory glow of foot fellowship, but they do not hang on to their friendships as you do.

You have an excessive amount of pride, and you may sometimes make the error of feeling too big for your boots, or of being "too proud." You have too much sense to ever keep a swollen head, but yours will have to be punctured more than once. Although you have sufficient ability, you do not have a temperament for public life. Not all that is to be desired is seen in your home life, but harmony may be wrought out of chaos if right influences are brought to bear upon the problem.

Unexcused absences in Appleton schools were fewer during November than ever before this year, according to the monthly report of J. G. Preston, trustee officer. any. Seven students were returned to school and only one parent was notified of violation of the law. The number of calls which Mr. Preston made during the month totaled 119, 25 were made at schools.

HOOVER ASKS 1924 TAX PLAN

MELLON URGES HIGHER RATES ON INCOMES, INHERITANCES IN PROPOSED U. S. SCHEDULE

Tobacco and Capital Stock Sales Also Would Face Increased Levies

POINTS TO "EMERGENCY"

Favors New Taxes on Autos, Radios, Wire Messages, Theatre Tickets

Washington—(AP)—The administration tax increase plan hits almost everybody and seeks to apply Secretary Mellon forwarded it to congress today, calling for increased rates on personal and corporation incomes, inheritances, tobacco and capital stock sales.

New levies would be imposed on automobiles, radios, telephone, telegraph and cable messages, amusement tickets, checks and drafts and realty sales. Postal charges would be boosted.

Exemptions from income taxes would be lowered to include 1,700,000 new individuals within the scope of the federal levy.

The secretary of the treasury, backed by President Hoover—recommended the plan to take effect next month and terminate in June, 1934. With $1,310,000,000 to be raised by it in the coming 18 months, he termed the legislation necessary to meet "a real emergency."

Balance Necessary

"It must not be forgotten," Mellon wrote, "that the very ability of the government to borrow depends upon the conviction on the part of purchasers and holders of government obligations that the proper relationship between expenditures and receipts will be maintained. I am confident that increased taxation, clearly necessitated by emergency conditions, will meet the supporting response of our citizens to the needs of the government."

Secretary Mellon disclosed he soon will submit a bill for approval of the Hoover memorandum on international debts. Among other recommendations in his annual report was one that, in accordance with the president's idea, congress allow the treasury $100,000,000 for further subscription to the federal land banks.

He renewed the administration suggestion that trade-area branch banking be adopted for national banks as "a solution, in a large measure, of our present banking difficulties." He challenged arguments that banking should be confined to political "or other existing artificial boundaries rather than to its natural economic lines."

The added taxes would begin on passage of the bill. As to incomes, the following scale would be in force for payments next March:

Scale of Taxes

Now 14 per cent on net income up to $1,000; 25 per cent.

Now paying 3 per cent on the second $4,000; up to 4 per cent.

Paying 5 per cent on net income above $8,000; up to 6 per cent.

Surtaxes would start at 1 per cent for more than $10,000 net income; be graduated up to 37 per cent on incomes between $100,000 and $200,000 and reach 40 per cent on incomes in excess of $500,000.

Personal exemption for heads of families would be decreased $1,000; becoming $2,500. The single person exemption would be reduced $500; becoming $2,500. The single person $400 exemption would be allowed.

The earned income provision of present law, under which 25 per cent of the tax is credited, would be continued.

A half per cent would be added to the 12 per cent corporation levy of now and the $3,000 exemption provision eliminated. It was estimated this would bring in $57,000,000 by the end of next fiscal year.

The recommendations on miscellaneous taxes were: "An increase of one-sixth in the present rates on tobacco manufactures and products except cigars; an increase of 1 cent in the existing stamp tax upon sales or transfers of capital stock; extension of the present tax on admissions through the reduction of the present exemption to 10 cents; a tax on manufacturers' sales of automobiles, trucks and accessories at 5, 3 and 2 1/2 per cent, respectively; a stamp tax on conveyances of realty of 50 cents for each $500 of value in excess of $100; a tax of 3 per cent on manufacturers' sales of radio and phonograph equipment and accessories; a stamp tax of 2 per cent check and draft; and a tax on telephone.

NORRIS OFFERS ROAD CONSTRUCTION BILL

Washington—(AP)—Senator Norris, independent Republican, Nebraska, today proposed a bill for a $300,000,000 bond issue for road construction as a measure of unemployment relief.

Norris also reintroduced his amendments proposing constitutional amendments to abolish the short session of congress and the electoral college. He resubmitted his bill for government operation of Muscle Shoals.

He also introduced a resolution to authorize a sweeping inquiry by the senate judiciary committee into farm board operations.

Large Increase in Donations Expected to Be Reported Today

A total of $2,914.05 was reported by workers at the close of the first day of Appleton's four-day campaign to raise $30,000 for charity in Appleton this winter. The report was submitted at the meeting of workers at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at drive headquarters at the Y. M. C. A., according to J. R. Whitman, drive leader.

The total reported yesterday includes one item of $315 from the advance drive committee and another item of $493.97 realized at the charity football game between Kaukauna and Appleton high schools on Armistice day. Thus the workers reported a total of $2,105.08.

Mr. Whitman today expressed satisfaction with the results of the first day's work. He pointed out that many workers had not yet made their reports and he predicted a big increase in the amount to be reported at the meeting at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Members of the advance drive committee and the industrial committee are meeting with success and full reports of their endeavors will not be available for several days.

Mr. Whitman said Mr. Whitman is chairman of the advance drive group and Dr. D. S. Runnels is chairman of the industrial committee. Other members of the latter committee are Earl Lutz, Captain Henry Serravallo and J. D. Steele.

GOLDHURTS' PAROLE REPORTED REVOKED

New York—(AP)—The New York Evening Post states today it had learned that a parole granted on July 16 to Harry L. Goldhurst, racketeer and former financial advisor of Bishop James Connelley, Jr., has been revoked.

Goldhurst was sentenced on Oct. 15, 1922, to five years in federal prison on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy. When his parole was announced, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, demanded the department of justice review the case to determine whether a "kiss-and-tell" agreement had been entered into by officials whereby Goldhurst would receive an early parole in exchange for pleading guilty.

Attorney General Mitchell, in Washington announced on Oct. 12 that the department would review the case. According to the Post, Goldhurst was notified yesterday that his parole had been revoked.

Powers Says 2 Strangers Are Slayers

Names Mystery Men of Whom Authorities Could Find No Trace

Chickburg, W. Va.—(AP)—In a chat conversation today Harry E. Powers told sought to escape the hangman's noose for one of the five "mass murders" charged to him by placing the blame on "two other fellows."

Still chewing gum, but with a much grimmer expression than he wore during the other two days of his trial, the so-called "matrimonial merchant" took the stand in his own defense after the state had rested.

He recounted in detail his relationship with Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, North Boro, Mass., of force, for whose killing he now is on trial.

The two mysterious strangers he named were Charles Rogers and Cecil Johnson. He admitted a long search had failed to disclose any trace of them.

Rogers, he said, introduced Mrs. Lemke to him, had a key to the windowless garage with subterranean chambers where the state contends the crimes took place, and was a frequent visitor at the place.

Johnson, he testified with a hurt tone, "Stole" Mrs. Lemke from him. He and his mail-order sweetheart were on an automobile trip and when they reached Uniontown, Pa., she vanished, he said. He told of finding her in the company of Johnson later that day and leaving them together. That was the last he ever saw of her, he claimed.

The end of the state's fight to send Powers to the gallows for what the prosecutor called his "murder for profit" came unexpectedly after 25 witnesses had been heard.

Powers was still testifying when court adjourned at noon.

CITES INVESTMENTS BY UTILITIES FIRM

Washington—(AP)—Enhanced value of securities held by the Northwest Utilities company was attributed today before the trade commission largely to investments in other utility companies.

The Northwest company, operating in Michigan, Wisconsin, South Dakota and Nebraska, is under investigation along with the controlling Middle West Utilities company and other subsidiaries of the Insull group. The study was ordered by the senate.

The increase in values of securities held by Northwest was due in most part, Examiner Frank Bingham said, "to the acquisition of utility companies. In practically all cases control was secured through the purchase of common stock."

Time To Start Thinking About Yule Decorations

The first snowfall this morning is definite proof that the Christmas season is just around the corner and that householders will soon have to start thinking about the exterior decorations of their homes for the holiday season.

In the hope that this year Appleton people will work together to make the city particularly attractive during the Christmas season, the Post-Crescent is offering prizes for the best decorated exteriors. These prizes will consist of materials and devices useful for exterior decoration and will be entirely in keeping with this project.

It is not too early to begin thinking of the possibilities in home decoration at Christmas time. There are many things that can be made at home that will add a great deal to the attractiveness of surrounding

ROY JOHNSON, JAIL BREAKER, IS RECAPTURED

Suspected Member of Bandy Gang Captured in Langlade-co Roadhouse

Wausau—(AP)—Roy Johnson, elusive fugitive and reputed member of the Bandy gang which is accused of many robberies in Wisconsin, was captured by Marathon and Langlade-co authorities near Lily, Langlade-co last night. Officers surrounded a roadhouse in which Johnson was hiding. He made no resistance.

Johnson carried a pistol, officers said, and had a suitcase filled with women's apparel. He was disguised as a lumberjack. He was brought to Wausau for arraignment today.

After their arrest near Kenosha, where they were seized in a cottage in which were thousands of dollars worth of stolen merchandise, Johnson and Bandy escaped from Wisconsin jails. Bandy making a break for liberty in Sheboygan and Johnson in Wausau. Since then Bandy was reported slain in an attempted robbery in Los Angeles. Johnson expressed doubt that Bandy is dead.

Johnson said he broke out of the Wausau jail in March "because newspapers had turned public opinion against him." He denied all charges against him. Since his escape he had been in Wausau, twice, he said.

Johnson said he had planned to go to South America. He was arrested by officers led by Sheriff Simon Schamberger of Marathon-co, on a tip from Antigo police.

The gang which Bandy and Johnson led broke into and burglarized the Fashion Shop then located at 303 W. College-ave., the night of Oct. 25, 1930. They took dresses and women's wearing apparel and cash and checks in a safe, dumping the safe in a field on Spencer-ave. Practically all of the clothing was recovered when the Kenosha authorities apprehended the gang.

Mrs. Johnson was held here in county jail for several days pending action against her as accessory in the burglary but the charge was dropped for lack of evidence.

OIL RESOLUTION IS LAID BEFORE SENATE

Madison—(AP)—A point resolution seeking to make public through legislative action a list of all Wisconsin dealers in oleomargarine was introduced today in the senate today by Senator John Cashman, Democrat.

The resolution attacked the recent decision of Circuit Judge A. G. Zimmerman of Dane-co who restrained the department of agriculture and markets from circulating such lists as an unfair trade practice and fined Commissioner J. D. Beck $250 and costs for violating the injunction.

Cashman's measure, which would have to be concurred in by the assembly, would make public a list of those dealers who obtained federal licenses to sell oil in 1931 by placing the names both in the senate and assembly journals and by furnishing copies to newspapers.

Proposed U. S. Increases To Raise Over Billion In Year And A Half, Estimate

Washington—(AP)—The administration tax increases proposed to congress today would raise $300,000,000 in the remaining six months of this fiscal year and $920,000,000 next year. It was estimated these amounts would be obtained in this fashion:

|                        | This Year     | Next Year     |
|------------------------|---------------|---------------|
| Income tax increases   | $28,000,000  | $135,000,000 |
| Corporation income tax | 27,000,000    | 60,000,000    |
| Miscellaneous taxes    | 205,000,000   | 614,000,000   |
| Estate surtax          | none          | 11,000,000    |
| Postal rate increase   | 75,000,000    | 150,000,000   |
| Total                  | $330,000,000 | $920,000,000 |

No estimate was made as to the amount which would be raised in the 1934 fiscal year, but the amount is expected to be more than that estimated for the 1933 fiscal year.

The increased taxes are therefore expected to bring the government at least $2,230,000,000 in the thirty months of its operation.

Legislature Votes Quiz On U. W. Athletic Expenses

LAUDS WALKER PLEA TO LIBERATE MOONEY

Eber Introduces Resolution in Assembly to Congratulate Mayor

Madison—(AP)—A resolution congratulating Mayor James J. Walker of New York, for "his gallant fight" in behalf of Thomas J. Mooney was introduced in the Wisconsin assembly today by Assemblyman John Beer, Milwaukee.

The measure states that "it has long since been established beyond a reasonable doubt that Thomas J. Mooney is an innocent man" and that his case is "a reproach to American justice and an insult to the working men of the nation."

The lower house unanimously adopted a resolution congratulating the Green Bay Packers for winning their third successive national professional football championship.

A resolution memorializing congress to enact legislation for additional federal aid for rural schools also was adopted.

An attempt on the part of Assemblyman Eber and Ben Wiczynski to have circuit judges turn over 25 per cent of their salaries to the state for unemployment relief failed. A resolution making such a proposal was voted down by a heavy majority.

Three bills on today's calendar were ruled not germane to the governor's call for the special session. One requested the appropriation for old age pensions and another sought to open Big Muskego lake in Waukegan-co to ice fishing.

Virtually the entire morning was spent in a hearing on the bill for compulsory unemployment insurance, introduced by Assemblyman Harold Groves, Madison.

Frank V. Chapman, Berlin, who called himself a "practical inventor" predicted that taxes would be cut if the state adopts a plan of compulsory unemployment insurance. He said his investigations had revealed that a person with an unsteady income was a better citizen than one with a steady source of income.

WYOMING U. STRIKE IS ENDED BY TRUCE

Laramie, Wyo.—(AP)—A 14-hour truce at the University of Wyoming today ended a strike by students attempting to force A. G. Crane, president, to apologize for statements he made during the drinking and "petting" parties of the winter.

The faculty approved a peace terms last night and the student body voted to accept them. In the morning the students withdrew an order suspending the striking students and the truce ended.

The strike will be given an opportunity to present their case to the university board of trustees next Thursday. It was agreed no students will be expelled for participating in the strike and that none will lose scholastic credits.

LIQUOR CONSPIRACY TRIAL NEARING CLOSE

Peoria, Ill.—(AP)—Attorneys for persons charged with liquor conspiracy in Chicago and the tri-city area today in final arguments to the jury said the government "did not come within a thousand miles of proving its allegations."

Charles Rich of Rock Island, Ill., quoted a government attorney who had said members of the jury "had imagined" with which to connect pieces of evidence into a conspiracy.

"The very integrity of the government is challenged," Rich said, "it has the right to try men on humaneness."

Both Edward Kelly of Davenport, Iowa, and I. R. Wasson of Peoria, Ill., argued that if Mike Blumberg, Clinton, Iowa, bootlegger was guilty, "it was in Iowa, not here."

The court interrupted to say it could not trust the jury on that point.

SEES DEFICIT OF 4 BILLION IN THREE YEARS

President Would Make Changes Where Necessary in Law of 1924

URGES TIME LIMIT

Warns Nation Against "Increased Drain Upon Public Finances"

Washington—(AP)—An administration recommendation for raising taxes on a widespread basis went today to congress, where it at once met Democratic resistance.

President Hoover and Secretary Mellon joined in presenting complete story of federal finances.

Along with a budget verging on $4,000,000,000, the president detailed the need of meeting a deficit that promises to exceed that figure by the end of the next fiscal year.

As a way out, Secretary Mellon advocated higher tax rates to take effect next month and apply on this year's incomes.

No sooner had his report reached Capitol Hill than Democrats began attacking it. Indications were the plan would be sidetracked by them in the Democrat-controlled house, where revenue legislation must originate.

Leaders of the majority forces there predicted the Democrats would have a plan of their own ready soon. Preparations were made for an early conference of the party members in both senate and house.

In his third annual budget message, President Hoover said: "We can not maintain public confidence nor stability of the federal government without undertaking some temporary tax increases."

For the 1933 fiscal year, beginning next July, he estimated $3,842,754,614 will be needed to run the government. Appropriations for this year were $2,271,326 more than that.

The president concluded with an emphatic warning against either congressional, private or organizational activities towards an increase in the drain upon public finances.

Rebuilding of the financial integrity of the Washington government, he called "a necessary factor in the rebuilding of a sound national prosperity."

The tremendous deficit figure he used was arrived at by adding the $200,000,000 unfavorable balance for the last year to a $2,123,000,000 one expected this year and an estimated $1,477,000,000 deficit in 1933. He left it to Secretary Mellon to outline the administration tax plan.

Rebuilding the budget for the present year being out of the question, Mr. Hoover wrote: "We should endeavor by increase of taxes and rigid curtailment of expenditures to balance the budget for the next fiscal year except to the extent of the amount required for statutory debt retirements. We should assure its balance, including statutory debt retirements, for the fiscal year following."

Favors 1924 Law

"I recommend that congress provide for an increase in taxation for a definite limited period and upon the general plan of taxation which existed under the revenue act of 1924 with such changes as may be appropriate in the light of altered conditions."

"It is proposed that this increase shall be definitely terminated in two years from next July. This plan, it is estimated, will realize $200,000,000 next year and thus meet the above condition of balancing the budget for the fiscal year 1933 except for the statutory debt retirement. It would balance the budget including debt retirement in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1933. It would provide about $200,000,000 for the current year, leaving us with the necessity of borrowing an amount which will represent a net increase in the public debt by about $1,329,000,000."

"The plan of approximately re-enacting the revenue act of 1924 has the great advantage that the government is equipped by experience with similar legislation for its systematic and economical collection. The public has paid such taxes in the past and has found that they do not prevent increased prosperity. By providing a definite date for termination of the temporary increase it will allow taxpayers to look forward to definite relief."

"I further recommend that congress inquire into the economic effect of the provisions of the present law relating to capital gains and losses."

Provisions of 1924 Act

Under the 1924 revenue act, a head of a family had only $2,500 exemption and a single person $1,000, instead of $3,500 and $2,500 as now.

Fons Bill For 17 Million Relief Fund Sent To Committee

MOVE TO FORCE TEST OF POWER IS SIDETRACKED

Daggett Opposes Motion to Engross Bill Supported by Governor

Madison, Wis.—The Fons bill, levying a $17,000,000 tax for unemployment relief on 1931 incomes, on chain stores and gifts, rested today with the joint finance committee of the state legislature.

It was sent there last night by the senate at the conclusion of a two-day public hearing which was followed by a test vote on the bill in the closely divided upper house.

The echo of opposition to the bill, which embodies Governor La Follette's unemployment relief program, and the rebuttal of the proposals had scarcely died down when Senator Leonard C. Fons, Milwaukee, the author, moved that the measure be engrossed and sent to the finance committee.

Engrossment would have required a roll call and that would have meant a test of the senate's voting strength.

Senator Harry B. Daggett, Milwaukee, opposed the motion. He said the conservative Republicans are working on one or more amendments to the administration bill and that amendments might not be in order if the measure were engrossed.

A sharp debate between Daggett and Senator Walter B. Hunt, River Falls, ensued.

Hunt accused Daggett of attempting to delay action on the bill and Daggett responded that "this bill is not going to be acted upon until we have had an opportunity to present something that will reach a greater number of the distressed."

Sent to Committee
When the verbal exchanges were over Senator George Blanchard, Edgerton conservative, asked that the senate get "down to business" and moved that the bill be referred to the joint finance committee.

The motion was adopted unanimously and the senate adjourned.

The joint finance committee meanwhile had acted upon the bill introduced in the assembly by Robert Nixon, Washburn Progressive. It is a duplicate of the Fons bill. The committee reported it out for passage.

That action, however, is of minor importance so far as the senate is concerned. The assembly is heavily Progressive, whereas the senate is evenly divided between 23 Progressives and conservatives, with three independents holding a balance of power.

The regular Republicans held a caucus between the afternoon and evening sessions but reached no definite decision as to the introduction of substitutes.

The Hunt-Daggett debate topped off a day in which the senate, sitting as a committee, of the whole, had listened to a long line of speakers, most of them opposing the Fons bill on the ground that local communities have prepared to handle their own unemployment relief plans.

When Daggett opposed a vote on engrossment Senator Hunt arose with the charge:

Demands Quick Action
"What's the use of the legislature in trying to string the legislature along? If you have enough votes to kill the bill, then kill it. If we have enough votes to pass it, let us pass it."

Daggett replied that "this bill will not be acted upon until we have something that will reach a greater number of distressed and something which I am confident will meet with the approval of the members on the other side. All good things do not come from the governor's office."

The debate was a reminder of a statement that had come earlier in the day from Hunt when he said that not more than five or six senators had remained in the chambers to hear the arguments of the Fons bill opponents. He told Daggett that most of those who remained at their desks were Progressives and that the conservatives were unwilling to listen to the arguments of the proponents.

About 30 speakers appeared before the senate at yesterday's public hearing. A majority of them were representatives of local industries, who declared that their communities would take care of unemployment relief, that the governor's income tax program would place an unbearable burden on industry and individuals, and that administration of state relief funds by the unemployment relief commission would mean a loss of home rule.

Favors Income Tax
Fons closed the arguments with rebuttal. He said several Wisconsin men of national reputation had advocated the income tax plan of collecting relief funds, denied localities would be deprived of the rights of local administration, and declared community chests do not entail contributions from all persons according to their means.

One Communist, Fred Bassett, Milwaukee, opposed the bill because he thought the appropriations were entirely too small and accused Governor La Follette of being "the savior of capitalism."

Others who spoke against the bill included: Frank D. Chapman, Berlin; Martin R. Paulson, Racine; Ira E. Curtis, Beaver Dam; R. K.

CROP SURPLUS CONTROL AGAIN UP IN CONGRESS

"Big Three" of Agriculture Outlines Offensive in Current Session

Chicago, (AP)—Organized agriculture has mobilized for the first concentrated fight in congress for the oldest of farm relief measures, crop surplus control.

The offensive was outlined today by leaders of the "big three" of farm groups: the American Farm Bureau, the National Farmers Union and the Grange.

The demands, these leaders said, will be those of old—the export debenture and the equalization fee. But they will be made in harmony, free from the discord of times past.

And the "big three," united for the first time, claimed sufficient strength in the senate and house for victory.

Soon after the holiday recess, the farm leaders said, amendments to the agricultural marketing act will be offered in the senate and house to authorize the federal farm board's use of both the fee and debenture principles.

Under present plans, the amendments will be sponsored by Senator Charles McNary, Oregon, long an advocate of the fee, and Representative Marvin Jones, Texas, who has introduced debenture legislation in previous sessions.

Washington representatives of the farm groups said joint adoption and Rockwell, Beloit; O. J. Swanson, Wausau; C. E. Stacey, Wausau; R. E. Seaton, Portage; L. R. Clausen, Racine; A. E. Coffin, Green Bay, and R. E. Sager, Green Bay.

Samuel Sigman, of the Appleton Trades council, urged passage of the bill.

Fried Chicken Tonight at Schreiter's Cafe, 229 N. Richmond St.

optional use of the fee and debenture would be urged in the committee hearings.

The fee has always been the protegee of the farm bureau and the Farmers Union; the debenture, that of the Grange. None of these groups supported the Agricultural Marketing act of 1928 and all are opposed to the act's stabilization clause, invoked by the farm board to peg the price of the last May crop of wheat.

Eliminated in Congress

Forces outside the "big three" eliminated the fee and debenture principles from the marketing act to eliminate controversy and assure speedy passage.

The "big three," it was disclosed, will offer no objections to the farm board's program, other than the stabilization operations.

The farm bureau, at its annual meeting here, has contended the equalization fee directly places the cost of surplus control onto the producer by assessment of the fee. The Grange has maintained that the debenture, one half of the tariff rate only makes the tariff effective on farm commodities and in no way is a subsidy for the growers.

The "harmony" program has resulted from frequent conferences in recent weeks between Edward A. O'Neal, head of the farm bureau; L. J. Taber, master of the Grange; and John Simpson, who recently was re-elected president of the Farmers Union.

It is their contention that the nature of the surplus will solve the problem of which to use—the fee or the debenture.

TROOP 1 BOY SCOUTS MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Because the annual meeting of the valley council of boy scouts is scheduled for Thursday evening, scouts of Troop 1, St. Joseph Catholic church, will hold their weekly session in the parish school hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening, according to Al Stoegbauer, scoutmaster. Individual and troop projects will be discussed.

State Postmasters To Be Invited To Meeting Here In January

VALLEY GROUP HOLDS SECOND MONTHLY MEET

27 Postal Heads in City Tuesday—Will Invite Federal Official to Talk

All Wisconsin postmasters will be invited to the January meeting of the recently organized Fox River Valley Postmasters' association. It was decided at the second meeting of the postal heads at Conway hotel last night. There were 27 postmasters at the meeting. John Farrell, Green Bay, is president, and Emmery H. Greunke, Appleton, is secretary of the association.

The postmasters decided to invite one of the departmental heads from Washington, D. C., to come to Appleton to address the state postmasters. The date for the January meeting was set for Jan. 15. The postmasters also voted last night to hold the February meeting of the association in Oshkosh.

Following the business sessions there was a round table discussion of various postal problems with different postmasters leading the discussions. Gies H. Tietjen, of London, led the discussion on distribution and delivery of first class mail; Ernest Schier, Oshkosh, led the discussion on delivery and distribution of parcel post; M. Pytkak, Pulaski, spoke on employment of extra help for Christmas; and Adolph Mill, Kaukauna, discussed publicity and cooperation of the public.

G. E. Clark, Kenosha, with the federal postal department division of post offices, called on the postmasters at the Appleton office, gave a short talk in which he discussed his work.

Mr. Clark said there are 34 men employed in his division, which was recently organized. He said that the inspection work of these men already has revealed that scales in many post offices are not correct. He said most offices are found to weigh short. This caused, he said, both a loss in revenue to the department and confusion between offices. Mr. Clark has been inspecting scales in various offices in the Fox river valley.

CHRISTMAS TREE IS ERECTED ON AVENUE

Series of Song Programs at Site Will Be Started Dec. 19

The community Christmas tree, erected by the Optimist and Lions clubs Tuesday afternoon will be decorated and lighted within a day or two. The tree is in the center of E. College-ave, about 30 feet from the street intersection, where it will not interfere with traffic.

The tree, which stands about 50 feet high, was cut by the Tigerton lumber company after timber cruiser had scoured for it for several days. Appleton Wood Products company arranged with the lumber company for the tree which was brought out of the woods by a group headed by Walter Gmeiner.

A hole has been cut through the pavement and the tree anchored in the ground far enough to prevent its falling or leaning. An iron ring and cover probably will be placed over the hole so that next year another tree may be set up.

A series of song programs at the site of the tree are being arranged by a committee headed by W. E. Smith. Plans are to have the first program on Saturday, Dec. 19. The program will feature an hour program with a concert by an hour program will feature Appleton Men's choir, massed choirs of Appleton churches and Appleton school children.

WILSON, TEACHOUT TRADED BY CHICAGO

Go to St. Louis Cardinals in Exchange for Burleigh Grimes

Chicago —P—The Chicago Cubs today traded Hack Wilson, leading home run hitter of the major leagues in 1930, and pitcher Red Teachout to the St. Louis Cardinals for Burleigh Grimes, pitcher.

The transaction, in which no change of cash was made, was one of the outstanding baseball deals of the year.

Grimes, a pitching hero of the world series this year, nearly completes a circuit of the league in coming to Chicago. He started with Brooklyn and moved successfully for the New York Giants, Pittsburgh and Boston before joining the Cardinals.

Teachout, a promising Cub rookie of 1930, came to the Chicago Nationals from Indianapolis of the American association.

The stocky outfielder who led the circuit batters a year ago slumped last year and Wilson's transfer had long been anticipated.

FERTILIZER IS NECESSARY TO SECURE CROPS

Wisconsin Soil Weak for Crop Production, Farmers Are Advised

A chemical analysis of fertilizer, commercial and barnyard, and its value to farm crops was outlined at the Tuesday afternoon session of the farm institute at the Oshkosh opera house. Ninety-two farmers from Oshkosh and surrounding territory attended the afternoon session.

The session consisted of a report on 1931 fertilizer tests in Outagamie-co by Gus Sell, county agent; a talk on "Emergency" Hay and Pasture Crops for 1932 by G. M. Briggs, Madison; and a discussion of "A Soil Improvement Program" by C. H. Imig, Junction City.

A meeting for Home Economics club was conducted in the American legion hall yesterday afternoon by Miss Harriet Thompson, county club leader, and Miss Marie Klein, county nurse.

Mr. Sell said soil tests conducted in Outagamie and Winnebago-co during the past year brought out some amazing results. He said soil on various plots of farms was treated with combinations of potash and phosphorus in an attempt to improve production of crops, and create better returns for farm products.

Need Potash, Phosphorus The experiments were conducted with barley, oats and cabbage, on various kinds of soil. In the two counties, he stated, the oats test conducted on sandy soil revealed that certain percentages of potash and phosphorus were required to insure increased crops and resultant profits, he stated.

The county agent also presented a report on side-dressing experiments conducted in cabbage growing. He pointed out that some plots require no nitrogen, while others lacked that element and needed commercial fertilizer. The same experiments were conducted with mixtures of potash and phosphorus.

"Emergency hay and pasture crops are those which take the place of alfalfa and clover," Mr. Briggs stated. He compared the growth of various stands of alfalfa, timothy, clover, oats, rye, Sudan grass and soybeans in various localities and the necessity for producing certain feeds for cattle to provide balanced rations.

He produced a diagram which showed the scope of pasture and hay crops between April and November, and explained systematic methods of planting to insure continuous crops for feed. He said many farmers depend on soybeans to balance their cattle rations, while others use other planting combinations.

Fertilizer Necessary In an analysis of commercial and barnyard fertilizer, Mr. Imig stated that most farmers want four tons of alfalfa per acre 75 bushels of corn from 10 to 20 tons of silage, and 50 bushels of oats from their soil.

He pointed out that it takes 125 pounds of nitrogen, 56 pounds of phosphoric acid and 60 pounds of potash to produce 75 bushels of corn. Four tons of alfalfa requires 33 pounds of potash and 44 pounds of phosphoric acid and a small quantity of lime, he stated.

Four tons of alfalfa hay requires as much potash and phosphorus out of the soil as 20 tons of manure, he said. The speaker said that most potash could be obtained as frozen assets, while phosphorus, although sometimes in the same class, could be transformed into "liquid assets."

"It is unfortunate for farmers that Wisconsin has such thin soil, and contains such a small amount of natural strength for crop production," he said. "Nebraska has fertile soil almost 20 feet deep, while Wisconsin's natural soil is only a few inches deep."

The speaker urged farmers to make use of every available bit of barnyard manure, and pointed out that it is rich in potash, phosphorus and nitrogen. He told them they should get the fertilizer into the ground as soon as possible.

Posters On Display

Forty-three posters advertising the farm institute, and prepared by pupils in various schools of Oshkosh and surrounding rural territory are on display in the opera house.

They were prepared by pupils from the following schools: Hortonville grades, Green Meadow, Dale; Elm Grove Center, Ellington, Happy Valley, Greenville; LaFollette, Lincoln; Oak Park, Hortonville; Grove Grove, Dale; Clover Leaf, Dale; Pleasant Corners, Greenville; Knowledge, Hortonville; Stephensville school, Elm Grove; St. Peter and Paul Catholic school, Hortonville; Cedar Dale, and Island school, Greenville.

A $1 prize will be awarded for the best poster in each school, after which the three best posters will be selected for the $5 and $1 prizes in first, second and third places. Prizes were to be awarded Wednesday afternoon. Judges are A. G. McNeal, county superintendent of schools, and Mr. Sell.

Without waiting for the police to prepare a warrant and complaint and without reporting to the police department, J. R. Whitman, 114 S. Alton-ct., whose car was tagged on W. College-ave yesterday afternoon for being parked more than 90 minutes, appeared in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday afternoon and voluntarily paid a fine of $1 and costs.

Mr. Whitman, who is heading the drive to raise $30,000 for charity, told the court that he was out working on the drive yesterday afternoon, parked in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday afternoon and voluntarily paid a fine of $1 and costs.

Police Chief George T. Prim said this morning that the necessary papers charging Mr. Whitman with the offense would be prepared and delivered to the court. He said he knew nothing about Whitman's car being tagged until after Whitman had appeared in court and paid the fine.

Dr. C. L. Kolb, 523 S. Mueller-ct., appeared in court this morning and paid a fine of $1 and costs. His wife parked the Kolb car on College-ave yesterday for more than 90 minutes.

THREE-INCH BLANKET OF SNOW FALLS HERE

Appletonians Dust Off Snow Shovels to Clear Sidewalks Today

Snow shovels were brought out of storage Wednesday morning as Appletonians set out to give battle to the first snow fall of winter. A blanket of snow three inches deep covered the ground this morning. The snow began to fall shortly after midnight Tuesday, and continued to pile up until after 8:30 this morning.

Snow was reported over most of the midwestern Monday night and Tuesday. More snow with a drop in temperature has been predicted by the weatherman for Wednesday night and Thursday.

Similar predictions are being forecast throughout the state and midwest for the next 24 hours. Winds are shifting in the north and northeast, a good indication that there will be more precipitation and colder weather.

At 6 o'clock Wednesday morning the mercury registered 10 degrees above zero, and at noon it registered 35 degrees above zero.

GAME BIRDS TO BE DISPLAYED AT PET STOCK SHOW

Pheasants Raised in Western Part of County on Display at Armory

Conservation and propagation of pheasants in the county will get a boost this week during the annual Fox River Poultry and Pet Stock association show at Armory G. The show opens tonight and will continue through Sunday.

One of the features of the show will be a display of pheasants like those being raised in the western part of the county. Setting out of pheasants is an annual project of sportsmen, and farmers in the western section have taken to raising birds and then setting them free to propagate.

Setting up of cages started Wednesday morning and before 10 o'clock some of the exhibitors were at the armory ready to put their birds on display. The entry period closes at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. The armory will be open to the public from 9 o'clock in the morning to 10:30 in the evening daily except Sunday, when doors will close at 6 o'clock.

Judging of birds will begin tomorrow. The judge of poultry and pigeons will be George M. Wells of Oshkosh and the rabbit judge Fred Witt, Marion.

Prizes for birds and rabbits entered will range from $1 to $20. In the sweepstakes poultry class there will be a $20 prize for the best display, $15 for the second, $10 for the third, with $5 for the fourth. Other prizes in the sweepstakes class range to $1. Special cash prizes ranging from the largest entry and longest distance from Appleton to third best bird also will be given.

Almost $75 in prizes will be given to the farmers of Outagamie-co who enter farmer and utility production blocks.

Rabbit breeders who are expected to enter large exhibitions also will have an opportunity at a big prize list, officers of the association said.

Officers of the association are Rudolph H. Pfund, president; George Lausman, vice president; and John Goodland, secretary and treasurer. Anton Myse is show superintendent.

Directors of the association are William Drexler, Anton Myse, J. E. Parish, W. P. Fiotow, A. J. Shannon, H. Boldt, Dan Leppla, William Myse, C. A. Gelboe and L. F. Bushey.

Questions pertaining to your health will be answered if addressed to Chiropractic Health Society.

So completely are nerves distributed to all parts of the body that were everything but the nerves removed they alone would preserve the shape of the body in all its outlines. There is no organ, part, muscle, ligament, skin, membrane, bone or blood vessel but what receives a nerve supply from the brain, and all parts are maintained in health according to the normalcy of this nerve supply.

Any interference or injury to a nerve at once expresses itself to the area of distribution of the branches of that nerve, and abnormal conditions will manifest themselves, and will so remain until the interference or injury is removed. Nerves are interlarded with — impured — interlarded where they pass outward from the spinal cord thru openings between the movable bones or vertebrae of the spine, and nowhere else, as they are firmer than the flesh thru which they pass after leaving the spine.

Chiropractic is the only means of speedily removing this interference or impingement to open the spinal windows. When the spinal windows or intervertebral foramina are opened, and in consequence all interference with nerves removed, health at once begins to manifest itself. # DISCONTENT FACES PEACE WORKERS AT GENEVA CONFERENCE

Season of Upheavals Throw Gloomy Aspect on Dis- armament Meet

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—Difficulty has fallen upon the peace workers.

This winter, long and fondly anticipated as bringing the great international disarmament conference at Geneva, now seems sure to be the winter of their greatest discontent.

The peace organizations will continue to fight with the few weapons they have. They will intensify propaganda, raise millions of signatures to peace petitions and din disarmament into the ears of the world's statesmen as often as they can corner them.

But the poor prospects for arms reduction after the Hoover-Laval conference, the unsettled conditions of Europe and the demonstrated importance of peace treaties in the Manchurian affair have turned hope into despondency.

Discuss Terms
Some of the peace leaders, adopting what they consider a realistic attitude, now talk in such terms as the necessity for a "hundred-year educational program."

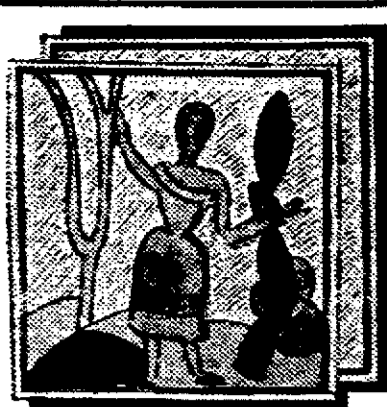

Others, also claiming to be realistic, declare that the strength of the peace movement must be directed at such aims as revision of the Versailles treaty, cancellation of war debts and reparations and Russian recognition, which they insist must precede any real disarmament. This program, endorsed by Senator Borah, is that of the more radical peace groups. The Women's International League for Peace and Freedom was the first organization in the world to protest the Versailles treaty when it was signed.

The peace workers find no more comfort in America than in Europe or Asia. Ask them how about President Hoover's $50,000,000 slash in the naval budget and they give you the heave-ho.

Don't you know, they say, that last year's naval budget was $350,000,000 and that this year the navy sent in an estimate for $401,000,000? And that when Hoover sent the estimate back to be cut to $340,000,000 it meant no more than a cut of $20,000,000, which is half the cost of a battleship? And that even the $20,000,000 is being taken out largely on navy yards, which congressmen and politicians are sure to protect and save?

Santa Suggests Ornamental Tiles For Christmas

BY LILLIAN

Brand new for Christmas gifts this year are gaudy Mexican and Spanish pottery tiles which the most fastidious person will adore having.

The trick is for the recipient to have them sunk into the wall above the mantel or in the hallway where they make a gay contribution to the room.

They can be hung like pictures, used for coffee urns or just stood on mantels. They come in primitive designs, in rich, tropical colors, and are especially chic as gifts for modern friends.

Y. M. C. A. ATTACKED BY GROUP IN MEXICO CITY

Mexico City—(AP)—A motion urging all priests and lay Catholics to wage a campaign against the Young Men's Christian association, the Young Women's Christian association and other similar organizations brought to Mexico from the United States was passed by the National Guadalupe congress here.

The congress is in session in connection with the celebration of the 400th anniversary of the supposed appearance of the Virgin of Guadalupe.

The motion accused the societies named of injecting an anti-nationalist spirit into the country and encouraging athletic parades of both sexes where the participants "appear in public half nude."

Other motions passed condemned motion picture films that are "contrary to Christian morality," as well as "immoral fashions," alcohol and divorce. The congress urged intensification of religious teaching among children.

FEWER FATALITIES REPORTED IN MONTH

Madison—(AP)—A total of 2,369 fatalities in Wisconsin during the month of October this year is the lowest for that month since 1926, figures released by the state board of health reveal.

Reduction in nearly all causes of death have been reported for last October as compared with the same month in 1930. Tuberculosis registered a drop of 37 deaths with a total of 89 for the month; pneumonia a drop of 29 with a total of 113; and cancer a drop of two with a total of 293.

A total of 245 persons died from violence during the month, the report showed. This number was 31 less than during October, 1930. There were 45 cases of suicide reported for last October, six drownings, nine cases of homicide and 77 deaths from automobile accidents.

During both October 1930 and 1931, 13 persons died from gunshot wounds, the bureau said. Two Wisconsin youths died from football injuries during October 1931.

THE TAX LEVY

Taxpayers in Appleton yesterday received a highly appreciated Christmas gift in the form of an announcement from the city government that their taxes to be paid in January will be very materially less than they paid a year ago, in spite of numerous increases in assessments. Spurred on by a sharp decrease in the levy for county purposes, the council slashed its own budget by about $90,000 and cut $30,000 from the estimates of the board of education, making possible a total reduction of about $350,000 from last year's total levy. The rate this year on an assessment of $45,806,465 is about equivalent to a rate of $25 on last year's assessment of $33,552,925, an actual reduction of $10 per thousand.

This sharp decrease in anticipated revenues means that strict economy must be practiced in every department of the city government next year. There is more than a possibility that the receipts outside of taxes, which this year were estimated at a larger figure than in previous years, will not come up to expectations and there will be even less money at the disposal of the city.

Analysis of the budget reveals that the major portion of the $90,000 reduction in estimates for next year's expenditures is due to elimination of projects contemplated a year ago but are unnecessary or abandoned this year. These include $65,000 for an incinerator and $10,000 for the reassessment which has been completed. The other $15,000 is accounted for by elimination of or reductions in appropriations for some public services.

While the $18 tax rate and the consequent decrease in individual tax payments is highly appreciated, this rate has resulted in a decrease in city and school revenues of such an extent that it will be extremely difficult to go through the year without borrowing and thereby again increasing bank loans, and probably resulting in an increase in the tax rate for next year. This is admitted by many of the aldermen, although some of them believe that the people will be in a better position to pay a higher tax next year than they are now.

It is generally agreed that the council must confine itself largely to routine the coming year, refraining from all expenditures that cannot be justified on the ground of absolute necessity. If this policy is not strictly followed the inevitable result will be increased borrowing and an increase in taxes next year.

But economy is the rule in every private institution and there is no reason why its principles cannot be applied just as drastically to the city and to the schools. The administration has set a difficult program for itself. How well it adheres to it will be reflected in the tax rate fixed a year from now.

ANOTHER NOBLE PROMISE

Senator Polakowski with joint resolution No. 10-S is seeking to amend the constitution of Wisconsin. In order to get through the door he approaches with soft and honeyed manner stating in butterscotch tones that "for the purpose of procuring control of the means of production and distribution of the necessities of life, and for the purpose of giving the worker the full product of his toil,"—a fine premise it is true, an excellent purpose, but the senator is really using hackneyed words, almost worn out with their prelude to the Promised Land.

This amendment seeks to give the legislature power to enter any and all activities of life and thereby and for such purpose to create "state corporations which may be granted any powers which the legislature may deem appropriate." No more restrictions at all on anything. The Socialists are a good deal like the spendthrift, impatiently waiting for a rich relative to die.

Of course it is going to take money to do this—millions. In fact, to do it effectively for this entire commonwealth, it will take tens of millions. So Senator Polakowski proposes that we shall amend the constitution and give the state authority to issue obligations "payable from any source of revenue." It is a grand, a glorious plan. It is a sublime dream. It starts off like a regiment going to war with beating drums, tooting horns, flying colors, cheering multitudes. But it would end up like a sunset on the field of carnage, a drab picture of bankruptcy.

Did we ever have so many proposals to amend the constitution as we have these days? The splendid old pioneers who wended their way to the state capitol, many times on foot and with only a rifle to protect them from the danger of the wilds, wouldn't recognize us now with the patchwork we are making of the constitution.

And each amendment has carried the same promise—it would take us to that romantic land of perfection called Utopia. Our troubles would all be over. We would smile all day long and laugh out loud in our sleep.

But each time we have awakened from the dream at the rude kick of that stern realist called experience, most often a little worse off than before we had the amendment and without either the ability or the energy to cast it off.

THE NEW SPANISH CONSTITUTION

The Spanish people are about to adopt their new Constitution. They seem to have progressed remarkably well in bringing into good order revolutionary conditions which were full of potential trouble. The enlightened views of honest and courageous leaders, men but recently out of monarchical jails for their intensive support of democracy, are coming to light in the provisions of the new Constitution.

Freedom of religious belief and practice is necessary for the successful functioning of any democracy. It is so provided in the proposed constitution. The Spanish Church, so closely interwoven into the fabric of the old monarchical government, is deprived of all its former political recognition and influence. No official state religion now exists.

Divorce, never permitted in Spain in the past, is now made possible, and marital relations are given a broad interpretation. "Matrimony is founded upon an equality of right for both sexes and can be dissolved for just cause or by mutual consent," says the Constitution.

The nation voluntarily limits itself to make war, and in so doing incorporates within the Constitution a recognition and support of international justice and cooperation which other nations might well imitate. The provision that war can be declared by the President only if it is in accord with the laws and decisions of the League of Nations, is beyond question defensive for the dispute must have first been submitted for arbitration to the League.

Many other fundamentals of modern democracy, including suffrage to women, will be included in the new Constitution—a Constitution which is to take the place of that of 1876 torn up by the Primo de Rivera dictatorship in 1923 which resulted in Alfonso's eventual loss of his crown.

CURTIS CHOOSES TO RUN
With republican chances very slim in the 1932 election, Charlie Curtis had to choose between being President Hoover's running mate again or a candidate for the senate. There was not much choice. He announced yesterday that he would stand for the vice presidency again.

Apparently his first inclination was to try the other long shot. So he went out home to Kansas to look over the political fences. The democrats had captured his old senate seat. Prospects for next year were bad.

If he would be running against odds in either case, why not stay where he was? That seems to have been the logic of his decision. Of course there was the added consideration of party regularity—a rather important point to a man who has been kept in public office for almost a life time by republican regularity.

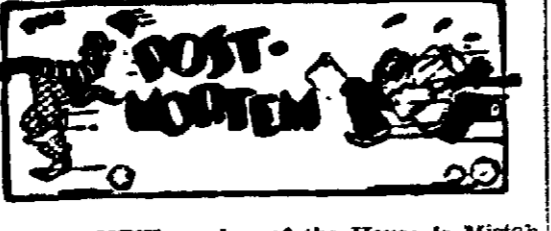

As the party leaders have been putting the matter to him for months, he could not desert the Hoover team without advertising his fear and theirs that Mr. Hoover would be defeated in 1932.

That would have been unkind. After all, Mr. Hoover's plight is bad enough without an added kick from his partner in office—New York World-Telegram.

Each day at Buckingham Palace, London, over 150 breakfasts, lunches and dinners are served to the permanent officials, servants and attendants who form the Royal English retinue.

THE NEW speaker of the House is Mistah Garner, sub, from Texas . . . the speaker of Mr. Garner's house, however, is not Mr. Garner . . . it's Mrs. Garner . . . but goin' . . . it's the first time in twelve years . . . a while back, that might have been a problem because the Democrats might not have known what to do . . . but now everything is different . . . you can't tell a Republican from a Democrat by looking at him . . . certainly not by listening to him . . . or by asking him what he believes . . . you can only ask him which party he gets campaign funds for . . . aside from that, YOU find a difference . . . so, even if the Democrats haven't had the majority for twelve years and Mr. Garner is their first speaker since hellenogee, they'll probably get along pretty well . . . we also note that the congressman from Appleton got five votes for the speaker's job . . . and got his name in the big newspapers . . . that's nice, because that's all we'll hear from him for a long, long time.

Things got pretty bad in the office yesterday for a while. There were only two of us there during that time and NEITHER of us had any cigarettes.

In fact, it got so bad we had to go and BUY some. Which is sacrilege in a newspaper office.

While the city is wondering about people who park more than two hours in the restricted zones, it may as well get excited about an even more serious problem. That's the problem of the hounds who double-park on Appleton's most important north-south streets.

The street that bears the name of the city is undoubtedly the worst of the lot (and it's a half block from the police station). You need an extra set of fenders, bumpers, complete collision insurance and a couple of prayers if you expect to get by the trucks, passenger cars and such left, by the insects, out in the middle of the street. It's like trying to get past a parade. And it's a TWO-way street.

Maybe the two-hour violators are tough on the shoppers, but at least they don't smear up traffic.

Hadn't heard about the charity drive as we wrote this yesterday, but we're waiting. Are we gonna be called a liar?

No matter how ardent a contract bridge fan you may be, don't get excited about this Culbertson-Lenz match. Point: your heart couldn't stand the strain that long. Reason: the Culbertson-Lenz match is going on and on and on for days and days.

HUMAN NATURE

I am as good as I can be
When from temptation I am free,
When my particular delight
Is absent I defend the right
And very properly I frown
On sins which drag my neighbor down.

Against the stronger I am meek
And often turn the other cheek,
But when I have the upper hand
I am not then so oily bland,
Assured of safety, wrong or right,
I'm always brave enough to fight.

I would immediately destroy
All forms of sport I don't enjoy,
Without the sins at which I scoff
I'm sure the world were better off.
But asked to put my comfort off,
Into a furious rage I fly.

I pity those who cheat and steal
For murderers pity off I feel,
But when I'm wronged I seem to find
It difficult to be so kind.
Denied the privilege of bail
I want the rascal thrown in jail.

8. POPULAR INDOOR WINTER SPORT

Once a man had a terrible cough, but it might not have carried him off but for scores of good friends who said why do you endure such distress when right here is my unfailing cure, thus making the end sure enough.

Beginning in infancy, when the victim had no say in the matter, and terminating, thank heaven, in senility, when the old fool doesn't know any better, the mortality rate from cough cures remains at a fairly constant high level for the whole population, except a few therapeutic snobs. We therapeutic snobs do not succumb to cough medicine because we don't take any.

Popular cough remedies, nostrums, proprietary concoctions of high or low degree, the shotgun mixtures of old time doctors and the high-priced and hifalutin specifics of latter-day pharmacology are certainly doing less execution to-day than these medicines did when you and I were young Maggie. After all the sordid trick Uncle Sam worked on the public when he enacted the Food and Drugs Act in 1906 and permitted the fakery to call it Pure Food and Drugs has saved some lives in spite of the conspiracy between the government and the crooks to flimflam the gullible public through the false security which that trick "guarantee" offered simple folk who didn't suspect the government would play the role of accomplice like that. The very fact that some such "guarantee" was required tended to put more sophisticated people on guard, and a few of these had microscopes or other aids to vision, so that they were able to discover the name of the morphine, heroinine, opium, or other dope in the very very fine print an indulgent Uncle Sam permitted the fakery to use in mentioning these ingredients on the label. You see, Uncle Sam didn't want to discourage the business too much, for he was getting a cut in it, of a fraction of a cent per bottle or package, in the form of a tax. It might cost Uncle Sam as much as a dozen dollars, but the government gets to save some baby from opium poisoning in the syrup of white pin and tar which the corner druggist assured father was perfectly pure and safe—why, here was the government guarantee right on the label. At that time there were plenty of babies in the country and not enough cash in the federal treasury.

It is justifiable to suppress some coughs by means of suitable narcotics, opiates, sedatives: it is actually beneficial to the patient coughing in some cases. But the layman who monkeys with cough killers of any description is just a plain idiot.

Unquestionably many minor ailments in which the cure is conceivable by means of coughing for a day or so are converted into grave illness by the unwise resort to medicines which suppresses or "soothes" cough. Instead of attacking the trouble in that bull-in-the-china-shop fashion, one should adopt a scientific if not Christian policy of let-alone, or depend on such harmless physical measures as cold, moist, compressed steam or vapor inhalation, cool moist air to breathe, hot foot bath, an occasional drop of glycerine on back of tongue to relieve tickling of throat. If you simply must have medicine, try Ole Dr. Brady's Foolproof Cough Remedy, which will be described here presently, or send a stamped addressed envelope for it.

THE TINYMITES
By Hal Cochran

A S Cappy grabbed the little pup and cut the balloon loose it went up and shortly drifted out of sight. The pup barked loud and long. And then it said, "I was tied tight to that balloon and, what a fright! It's gone now and I'm tickled that I didn't go along."

"I saved you," Cappy proudly said. "You see, I used my little head and took this fine police plane, when you drifted into air. I figured I could rise right up and grab you. You're a lucky pup! Gee, for a time I was scared, too but now I do not care."

"We'll sail around the clouds a while, and when we've traveled 'bout a mile or so I'll turn and come right back. Then we'll drift to the ground. The other Tinnies are below. They're worried over us. I know. How tickled they will be when they find out that you've been found."

"Say, I appreciate my luck in being rescued. You have pluck," replied the little black dog. "And I also like this ride. It's cool as it can be up here, and there is not a thing to fear. As long as you are pilot I won't worry 'bout my hide."

It wasn't until the wee dog got another thrill, as Cappy turned the plane toward earth and circled all around. Said Cappy, "This is not a race. I'm looking for a landing place." And, when he found a handy spot, he drifted to the ground.

The Tinnies and some dogs came near and all began to laugh, cheer. "Hey, Cappy, you're a hero," shouted Cappy. "Make a speech." "Oh, it was easy," Cappy replied. "I simply took an airplane ride and grabbed the little dog when his balloon came within reach."

Seen And Heard In New York

BY WILLIAM GAINES

New York—The old song said there was a broken heart for every light on Broadway.

Judging by the tenor of the gossip business, that still may be so. But let it be said that the city has accomplished much toward making sweetness and light prevail over cardiac lacerations and darkness.

If all New York's street lamps were lined along a straight highway, spaced approximately as they are on the city's thoroughfares, the distance between here and San Francisco would be brightly illuminated. Yet it was only 179 years ago that the common council, looking to the safety of nocturnal venturers, required that a candle lantern be hung from a pole on every seventh house.

If the candle was not burned on the dark of the moon, a nine penny penalty was imposed.

Benjamin Franklin was responsible for the first string of oil lamp posts for New York street illumination.

Broadway's emergence as the White Way was the result of the production of the Weisbach gas production, a bare 46 years ago.

Later the street was to see one sign, a block long, with 19,000 electric light bulbs. That sign is not seen any more, but the lights of New York are said to exceed 25,000 600 candlepower.

It takes a lot of woe to cast a shadow across the Rialto these nights.

Happy Days Again

Times are getting better. Not long ago a contributor sent in a yarn which had a familiar odor. He said: "A store manager was flabbergasted by a headquarters order to shave his overhead still more."

After a sleepless night, he decided the ornamental canaries in a front window must worry along with half as much bird seed."

The contributor's latest communication bears this addendum: "P. S.—Those canaries are back on full rations again."

Just the same, a certain rich chain of specialty stores still keeps a lone clerk gone of its metropolitan addresses. When he goes out to supper you can't even buy a match. He hangs a sign on the door, telling the New York trade what time he'll be back.

Moreover, the overworked fellow has to push sales of dozens of auxiliary articles.

You rush in to buy what the store is supposed to be fundamentally interested in dispensing to the public.

The clerk is giving a lecture to another customer on the virtues of razor blades or mystery novels. Your temper warms until you feel as though you might smoke from internal combustion.

Thomas comes up for reelection next year. And another Oklahoma Gov., "Alfalfa Bill" Murray—has been sounding off quite a bit on plans to combat economic ills. If "Alfalfa Bill," around whom a boom has centered for presidential or vice presidential honors, were to fall in this, he might look with favor toward a seat in the senate.

That may or may not explain Senator Thomas' championing of a relief plan so early.

HOOVER WANTS 1924 TAX LAW, CONGRESS TOLD

Would Make Necessary
Changes to Meet Altered
Present Day Conditions

There was no 25 per cent credit provision for the tax on earned income. If the presidential suggestion is adopted, normal income tax rates will be 2 per cent on the first $4,000 of net income, 4 per cent on the next $4,000 and 6 per cent on the amount in excess of $8,000, with surtaxes running from 1 per cent on net income of from $16,000 to $14,000 to 49 per cent on incomes in excess of $500,000.

The present normal rate of taxation of net income is 15 on the first $4,000, 3 per cent on the next $4,000 and 5 per cent on all above $8,000 with surtaxes of 20 per cent on all net income of over $100,000. Corporations would be assessed 12 1/2 per cent on their income instead of 12 per cent and estate taxes would run from 1 per cent to 49 per cent. Admissions to any public entertainment would be taxed 10 cents on a dollar, except where the charge is less than 50 cents.

Estimates for the 1933 fiscal year carry $155,000,000 for construction, of which $120,000,000 is for the public building program being carried out by the treasury but which includes no new projects.

National Defense
The president called for $644,650,000 for national defense, a decrease of $51,000,000, $50,000,000 for rivers and harbors; $11,369,500 for prohibition enforcement; and $1,672,000,000 for the veterans administration. Estimated appropriations for the shipping board showed a decrease of $55,872,000. For the farm board $1,850,000 was asked, a decrease of $100,000,000 as compared with appropriations this year.

The department of justice was allotted $53,900,000 an increase of $2,671,193 over current appropriations. The treasury would get $293,735,857, an increase of $24,000,000. All other departments showed decreases as compared with present year appropriations.

In conclusion, Mr. Hoover said: "The welfare of the country demands that the financial integrity of the federal government be maintained. This is a necessary factor in the rebuilding of a sound national prosperity. This budget with its recommended reductions in appropriations and increases in revenues, presents a definite program to this end involving three steps—first, a material reduction in the anticipated deficit for the current fiscal year; second, a relation between receipts and expenditures for the fiscal year 1933 which will avoid a further increase in the public debt during that year; and third, a balanced budget for 1934.

"To carry out this program it is important to emphasize the fact that we are now in a period where federal finances will not permit of the assumption of any obligations which will enlarge the expenditures to be met from the ordinary receipts of the government.

"I am confident that the congress realizes this situation and will give it full consideration in passing upon matters which may contemplate any such additions to our spending program. To those individuals or groups who normally would importune the congress to enact measures in which they are interested, I wish to say that the most patriotic duty which they can perform at this time is to themselves refrain and to discourage others from seeking any increase in the drain upon public finances."

The president disclosed that for the present fiscal year, receipts originally estimated at $3,556,000,000 are expected to drop $1,717,000,000 below that due to decreases of $1,140,000,000 in income tax collections and $202,000,000 in customs receipts among other factors.

The year's moratorium on inter-governmental debts withholds $247,000,000. Expenditures for the year are expected to total $437,000,000 more than the original estimates, due in part to added benefits to World War veterans of $125,000,000 and spending on public works to aid unemployment to the extent of $160,000,000.

In asking for the appropriations for 1933, the president said that every department had trimmed to the minimum.

DISPLAY INTEREST IN MUSEUM AT COLLEGE

An unusual amount of interest is being shown this year in the Lawrence college natural history museum, according to Dr. R. M. Bagg, director of the museum.

Many classes of students from the public schools of the city have enjoyed visits to the museum recently, and groups of students and teachers from schools throughout the valley have signified their intention of visiting the museum in the near future. A number of Oshkosh teachers inspected Dr. Bagg's collection on Saturday.

Visits may be paid to the museum at any time.

WARNING IS ISSUED ON RABBIT DISEASE

The state board of health has issued a warning against handling uncooked wild rabbits without protection for the hands. The warning was issued because of the noticeable recent increase in the cases of tularemia.

The board said 14 cases have been reported in Wisconsin since Nov. 1. Of these, 10 were in the south-central counties of the state, and others occurred in Green Bay, Ashland, Superior and Burnett counties. One case was fatal.

Tularemia is traced in most cases to wild rabbits, especially the cotton tail common in Wisconsin. It is transmitted through breaks in the skin, but germs are destroyed by thorough cooking, the board explained. Use of rubber gloves were advised in skinning, cleaning or preparing rabbits for cooking.

It is transmitted through breaks in the skin, but germs are destroyed by thorough cooking, the board explained. DULL Despondent Women

WOMEN were not meant to suffer! Yet month after month headaches... backaches... cramps and bearing down pains are robbing them of youth and beauty.

If only they would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a chance to help them! It's a simple remedy that eases those "difficult times" by its strengthening, tonic action. Won't you give it a chance to help you, too?

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Show Child How It Can Feed Itself

BY ANGELO PATRI
A child's first efforts at feeding himself are more than awkward. His hand shakes, the spoon turns over, the cereal drips from all sides. His face, his hands, his bib, the surrounding space, is smeared with the milky sticky mess.

If you are wise you will exclaim in dismay, you will look astonished and angry and all fussed up. You will snatch up the baby, scolding as you go, strip off his dress, wash his face and hands, none too gently, and proceed to feed him yourself. That is what unwise people always do.

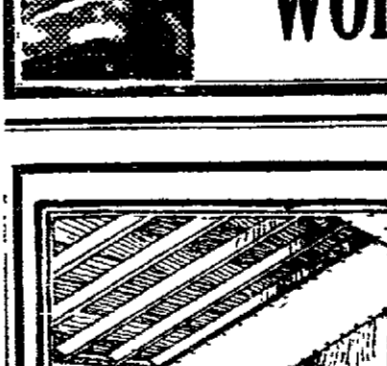

But if you know your job you won't do anything like that. You provide the beginner with a long-handled spoon, a rather deep saucer, an oilcloth table cover, a substantial washable bib and wish him good luck. Maybe you sit by and look pleased at every waver and attempt. Certainly you do not hurry him or worry him until he indicates that he has had enough work for this time.

Then, and only then, do you wash him and finish feeding him with the same spoon from the same dish. It needs to feel that he has accomplished something in his struggle for self help. He needs this so much that you will pay any price in patience and self control to allow him to acquire it.

I have seen children of three and four years of age sucking their morning milk from a baby bottle. I have seen their mothers sitting by their sides feeding them with what grace they could muster. All because they could not stand by when the child indicated his readiness to help himself and allow him to do so.

Some children cry the first time they are asked to use a spoon or a glass. Never mind their tears. When it is time for the spoon and the glass bring them along and persist in their use and before very long the child accepts them cheerfully. It is a great mistake to offer a glass of milk, and then, because he cries, take it away and give him his bottle again. Stick to the glass once you begin and suffer his howls and tears for the time. It will be but a brief time and he will be happy again.

happier because of his new found power. As soon as he can handle a little fork let him do so. Then give him his knife. Children often have trouble with knives and forks because they are too big for their hands. Get small ones that fit the childish hands and teach the child to use them. In the beginning cut his meat in pieces big enough to allow, to demand, another cutting. That is the child's job. He must learn to cut his own meat and the sooner the better. He can't do it all right from the start so you help by making a beginning. But he must finish. We have to wean children from us. That is a hard process for parents and children. But it is a necessary one. If we do not begin early we are going to regret it bitterly. It requires long slow careful adjustment from three years to post adolescence. The mealtime is a fine time to start.

Mothers... Watch Children's COLDS
COMMON head colds often "settle" in throat and chest where they may become dangerous. Don't take a chance — at the first sniffle rub on Children's Musterole once every hour for five hours.

MUSTEROLE
BETTER THAN A MUSTARD PASTE
FOR ALL TYPES OF COLDS

Children's Musterole is just good old Musterole, you have known so long, in milder form. This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant" — not just a salve — it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain.

Keep full strength Musterole on hand, for adults and the milder — Children's Musterole for little tots. All druggists.

The Story of Sue

MARGERY HALE
© 1931 by NEA Service, Inc.

GRACE was sitting in front of the fireplace, reading a book. "Hello, Sue and Jack, come on in, she greeted them, letting her book slide to the floor. "See the ropes my devoted husband sent me today. Three whole dozens of them! If it was anyone but Jimmy I would wonder into what mischief he was in now."

She talked on carelessly, socially. "He's working tonight. Got a streak of ambition. A customer wanted to see some house plans and asked him to go along to look over a place that's to be remodeled. He called. I've got his dinner, keeping it hot in the oven. He'll never think to eat. He gets so interested in his work that blue prints fill his life."

Never think to eat? And he had been in the side restaurant with Natalie Webster. Still he was innocent enough of any wrong doing. He merely was letting Natalie weave a skein of circumstances around him. Sue knew her type.

There were steps in the corridor outside. Almost panic-stricken, Sue looked at Jack. She had supposed that Jimmy would be a long time coming home.

Jimmy was confused when he saw them. "Hello, Jimmy. I hear you were working late," Sue answered. "We just stopped in to see Grace when we saw her light still burning."

"Grace greeted Jimmy gaily and gladly. "Your dinner is waiting," she said. "I'll get it. Will you entertain my husband, please?"

"As soon as Grace had left, Sue smiled at Jimmy. Jack, answering a gay call from Grace, went in the kitchen. "What kind of house is Mrs. Webster getting?" Sue asked Jimmy presently. "I just heard about it. And why don't you tell your wife where you are going? Some gossip person might do it for you. I'm safe. So is Jack. But Jimmy, it isn't worth the risk."

"But Mrs. Webster is just a client."

"Of course, she is. But not everyone would know that."

"Well, if people are narrow-minded enough to get ideas."

"Their minds are so broad they will hold all sorts of ideas. Take Grace along next time."

"Sue could see that Jimmy was worried a little. He tried to be nonchalant and gay about it. With a little sickening feeling Sue wondered if she had just succeeded in making him think that he was a Beau Hummel, a desirable young man, who could strut a little because he was."

"She was glad that Jack hadn't heard her talking to Jimmy."

"The ride down the road home was quiet. Sue was tired."

"Harry and Corrinne had already reached home."

"Corrinne was staring at a great box of deep crimson roses."

"Did you ever smell anything so delicious?" she asked. "It's almost like a jungle fragrance."

"They are for Nancy. But there isn't a card."

"For a fleeting second Sue thought of the other roses—quiet pink ones—that had been sent to Grace by Jimmy. Domestic roses."

"But these were different. They were voluptuous."

"I wonder who sent them," Corrinne was saying.

"Sue wondered if she knew. If Arnold Beasly had ordered them."

"NEXT. Another confidence."

GO TO DOCTOR TO CLEAR UP CASE OF ACNE

BY ALICIA HART

One of the worst things about blackheads is that they often are forerunners of acne.

Acne is that scourge of beauty-lovers, a skin disease that manifests itself by pimples that are apt to group themselves into pinkish, blotchy patches.

One of the worst things about acne is that it is most prevalent during adolescence and is well-calculated to deface the ego of the youngster having it.

It is very important, in the first place, to realize that acne is quite a universal affliction, that it should not be taken too much to heart but should be taken seriously enough to do something about it.

Do not use facial creams when you have acne, unless they are especially recommended by your physician. Wash your face gently morning and night with warm water and a pure soap and a wash rag that will really cleanse your face. Wash it several times carefully and thoroughly and rinse with cold water. This washing does much to help clear the face, for it gets superfluous fat out of the way.

Watch yourself constantly to see that you do not finger your face absent-mindedly. Soiled fingers can start infections on acne faces and even clean fingers can spread acne.

If you have an exaggerated case of acne go to a physician, for it may be a case of a clogged system and you may need regular exercises and diet to clean your system thoroughly.

Good beauty parlors have special treatments, also, for acne.

Last, but not least, in this treatment of acne, be careful of make-up. It is much better to go with a naked face and only rouged lips for a spell and have the pleasure of seeing acne clear up than to irritate a sore face with rouge and powder.

WE WOMEN

THIS MARRIAGE NOT GIVEN FAIR TRIAL—BOY WHO DOES NOT RETURN LOVE SHOULD BE REGARDED AS FRIEND

Dear Miss Vane: I eloped with a boy of whom my parents disapproved and now I'm sorry for it, although I didn't realize at the time what it would mean. He is in some ways still a wonderful man, but I can't live in the same house with him and be happy. We had to go to live with my parents after our marriage, and they put up with him although they didn't want to. It seems as if he and I had done nothing but quarrel since then. He is irritable and selfish and does not try to help out. My mother and father advise me to get rid of him but I have no real grounds for divorce. And sometimes I think I still love him. Can you suggest anything I can do to clear up my problem?

MARGARET LANE.

The first thing to do is to get from under the parental roof as soon as possible and try your luck in an independent home of your own. You may still have a chance of making your marriage a success, if you break away from the old folks, but otherwise everything is against you.

In the first place, your parents began by disliking your husband. They were prejudiced, wisely or not, against him from the very start, and that was hardly a good basis to commence with. Then as they have said a hundred times before, it is seldom convenient or comfortable for young people to live with either the bride or groom's parents. Trouble arises out of a situation like this, even with the best feelings on all sides.

The chances are that your husband's irritability and selfishness are emphasized by his disapproving in-laws who exaggerate everything he says or does.

In the many quarrels and petty arguments which precede readjustment in marriage, your parents have undoubtedly been on your side, defending you to him, blaming him to you so that the battle has always been one-sided, and any giving in that had to be done by the groom or by nobody. Hasn't that been pretty much the case? Hasn't it been easy to go to mother and father when friend husband has committed another one of his atrocious crimes—an atrocious crime which might pass unnoticed in an ordinary household where things were more on an even basis?

You are merely conforming their bad opinion of the man of your choice by complaining to them, and admitting defeat so soon. Why not try on a new basis? Why not cut away from the protection afforded by an over-kind father and mother—and get down to finding out what marriage really means.

It is quite possible that you two

AWARDED $1,700 FOR DEATH OF HIS WIFE

Madison.—(P)—The contention of William Schumacher that his wife, Mary, lost her life as the result of dredging operations in Shawano lake in July 1930 and that he was entitled to $1,735.45 damages awarded by a Shawano circuit court jury was upheld Tuesday by the state supreme court.

Carl G. Neumann, operator of a dredging company, appealed the judgment award on the grounds he was not permitted to introduce testimony indicating operations of another dredging company might have been responsible.

Mrs. Schumacher lost her life while swimming in the lake. Her husband contended she stepped into a hole dredged by Neumann's company, which was not marked. Dr. Edward L. Milosavlitch, Milwaukee pathologist, testified he was of the opinion the woman may have died from heart disease.

WISCONSIN STATE GRANGE HOLDS 1ST SESSION OF 62ND ANNUAL CONVENTION

Neenah—The second day of the sixtieth annual session of the Wisconsin State Grange opened at 9 o'clock this morning with business and pleasure distributed in the program. The morning session opened with roll call of officers with the following present: Herman Ihde, master, Neenah; Harold Ward, overseer, Avalon; Robert Greene, lecturer, Fern; Carl Stenberg, steward, Fern; Frank Pischke, assistant steward, Fish; Frank Schneider, treasurer, Delavan; Warren Marston, secretary, Oshkosh; Raymond Kral, gatekeeper, Antigo; Inga Pischke, Ceres, Fish; Alma Teeple, Pomona, Baraboo; Nellie Schaefer, Flora, Appleton; Ethel Hanke, lady assistant steward, Polar.

The board of directors is composed of R. J. Schaefer, Appleton, one year; S. N. Teeple, Appleton, two years; Fred Swanson, Antigo, three years; Fred Ihde, Neenah, ex-officio; and Helen Marston, Beloit, secretary ex-officio.

Sightseeing Trip
Reports of Pomona and subordinate masters followed after which resolutions were introduced for reference to committee without debate.

Following lunch, the visitors took on a sightseeing trip to one of the largest paper mills.

The annual memorial for departed members was held that afternoon with P. C. Schroeder in charge. The remainder of the afternoon was taken up with conferences, exemplification of secret work and committee meetings, after which the convention was to adjourn to South Greenville Grange where supper would be served, followed by fish and sixth degree work for a class of candidates, the work to be conducted by Winnebago County Pomona and state officer degree teams.

Thursday will be the real business day of the three day session with reports of the business agent, election of officers for a two year term and reading and adoption of by-laws and reports of committees.

The feature of the opening session Tuesday afternoon was the address given by Herman Ihde of Neenah, state master.

"We have witnessed, during the past three years, heroic efforts to do something for the farmers," Mr. Ihde said. "We have also seen the ineffectiveness of much that has been attempted in the way of relief. Not only the farmer suffered, but the rest of the country is distressed. Conditions prevail of a magnitude and difficulty never encountered in the history of the nation. The farmer continues to be penalized, not because of lack of sympathy on the part of the rest of the country with him, but because of failure to approach the problem in a practical manner."

Penalize Farmer

"For producing a plenty and some to spare, as is wise in his experience and judgment, the farmer is increasingly penalized. Not only the surplus but a large amount of the needed products are piled up and unavailable to the rest of the country for lack of purchasing power even at the present disastrously low prices, and the farmer can get little if anything with which to meet his obligations. The buying power of agriculture is at a low ebb, and the depression of the past three years continues, and no one can conscientiously predict when prosperity will appear around the corner. Farm products have but slightly more than 50 per cent of their pre-war purchasing power. The farmer is told to keep on buying with no income to keep with. Labor is asking for shorter hours and less days per week in order that all may have jobs and an income to keep the wolf from the door."

"We are told wages must not be cut, because it will curtail the buying power of labor, and this in turn will reflect upon prices paid to the farmer. It seems absurd to believe that industry and labor can expect to keep the price level on their products up to the old standard while agricultural products must be placed on the market at a price slightly above 50 per cent of pre-war purchasing power. Prosperity cannot and will not be brought back to the country until all groups are ready to get down to the same level, and when an honest dollar produced by one group will buy an honest dollar's worth of goods produced by another group, that must sell goods to keep the wheels of industry moving and labor employed. It seems reasonable to believe when the purchasing power of agriculture, that great basis of industry, is once restored, the depression now upon us will fade away. Not until then will prosperity appear around the corner, and glad the hearts of every American citizen."

Reviews Work

Mr. Ihde reviewed some of the work accomplished in November when the National Grange held its meeting at Madison. "The session was noteworthy for its emphatic pronouncements on big questions of the day, while its definite programs adopted on taxation, tariff, marketing, and land policy will command widespread attention," he claimed.

"In regard to Grange progress in Wisconsin during 1931, this has been very gratifying. We have added to the roll of Granges 23 new subordinate and one juvenile Grange, besides an increase in membership in nearly every subordinate and Pomona Grange. We have placed Granges in counties where we had none before such as Fond du Lac, Waupaca, Green Lake, Marquette, Green, Monroe, Vernon and Sheboygan. Our finances should be in excellent condition and we hope extension program may be continued in order that the harvest may be gathered in all the publicity the Grange has enjoyed the past year. The Grange in Wisconsin is in a position to function more properly than ever before, after whatever ## or line of activity that may be chosen during the year ahead."

Tax Policy

Relative to taxation, Mr. Ihde stated that "believing that the time is here when immediate relief from oppressive real estate taxes should be granted to agriculture. The share of the cost of government defrayed by general property tax, while somewhat just in years gone by, has passed its stage of usefulness, as far as making it the main source of revenue from which taxes are derived, as it does not place the burden where it rightly belongs, valuation is the general property valuation is used as a shock absorber, and is held responsible for all taxes not otherwise raised, so long will agriculture be required to pay a tax for more than its just share. A plan for more revenues, but the shifting of the tax-base away from real estate, income, luxury and gift must come to the support of property in bearing government tax."

Touching on transportation, he stated "That the railroads are suffering from loss of traffic rather than rates that are too low, and that increased freight rates would be ruinous to agriculture under prevailing conditions. If higher rates are granted, it is not reasonable to think railroads can win through higher rates the net income they have. We are safe in speaking that the Grange that our membership opposes any increase in freight rates at this time. It is beyond a question of doubt however, that the early completion of the St. Lawrence to the Sea waterway would be a great relief for the states tributary to the Great Lakes, and would relieve the burden of distant transportation which have long stood as an uncertain stable barrier to the economic progress to this great inland territory."

On cooperative marketing he claimed that when a farmer is compelled to produce foodstuffs for less than production costs, and the consumer is not able to pay the price charged at retail and when it is claimed we have overproduction on one hand and people starving for want of food on the other, it is obvious that the distribution of food is far from efficient and has absolutely fallen down.

Cooperative marketing and merchandising may have to be the final solution, he said. The agricultural act has made it possible to expand and develop a nation-wide cooperative marketing machinery and should be further extended and strengthened by amendment to substitute for the stabilization corporation the export department and such other methods of bringing our exportable crops and live stock products under the protective system, as can be developed on sound, legal and economic basis. Loans to cooperative farm supply associations should be authorized, he said.

Land Utilization

Mr. Ihde touched on the land policy by stating the future of the nation will largely depend on our present ability to shape a program of land utilization which will discourage agricultural overproduction, devote land to the uses to which it is adapted, conserve our resources, coordinate agriculture and forestry, preserve the beauty of the countryside and provide adequately for our future needs for timber. He claimed the problem of providing rural banking facilities adequate for agriculture needs deserved special study. Amendments to the Federal Loan system are needed to enable the system more adequately to render the service intended by Congress, and to extend leniency where deserved in its collection policy in time of panic and acute farm distress. He spoke on the juvenile Grange which is becoming more than ever an asset to any subordinate Grange and has a stabilizing influence on the young Grange. As to law enforcement, Mr. Ihde claimed the Grange stands for law and order and the enforcement of all laws. "The individual who takes upon himself the responsibility of furnishing liquor to the public, contrary to the 18th amendment, is a parasite to society and should be dealt with so severely as to put him out of business."

Ira L. Shea, the principal speaker at the Tuesday evening session, outlined the fundamental causes of the present depression, giving the concentration of wealth as the principal reason and a more equal distribution of wealth as the solution. He said the Grange proposed an increase in federal, state and national income, inheritance, excess profits and gift taxes with the property tax wiped out as soon as possible. Resolutions referred to the committee on resolutions, favors a state police system similar. This was introduced by the Allenville Grange. Other resolutions refer to the LaFollette tax policy money for road building to be raised through gasoline tax instead of taxation of farmers' cars, that cars be licensed when sold and remained so licensed for the life of the car. This was introduced by South Greenville Grange as was the resolution asking that part of the $17,000,000 tax asked by Gov. LaFollette be used to relieve the burden on farm property."

CONTINUE APPEALS FOR RELIEF FUNDS

Good Fellows Club Seeks Money to Aid Children at Christmas

Menasha—Further appeal for funds to aid needy families, particularly for providing for the happiness of children at Christmas time, was made today by the Menasha Good Fellows club.

"For those of us who are enjoying employment, we have learned a new appreciation of work as a giver not only of sustenance but of joy as well," the club said. "This Christmas can well be a period in which we give to those who need it in order to show our affection to those who do not."

"Children of the unemployed are still children; they cannot realize why Santa Claus should pass them up merely because Dad hasn't a job. Their faith in life should be protected as long as possible. Too, soon many of them are destined to lose or reconstruct it."

"A gift to a child who, without your aid, may go giftless this Christmas, is a gift of many fold blessing. Money has been raised for the physical needs of many families, but it cannot be used to take care of those more delicate needs of children. The joys, which, costing little to those with funds, loom large in the life of a child."

Gifts to the Good Fellows club may be made to R. M. Sensesbrenner, Harvey Boehnlein or John McAndrew.

CHEST CLINIC UNDER WAY AT GRADE SCHOOL

QUICK THINKING OF BOY PREVENTS FIRE DAMAGE IN HOUSE

Menasha—The quick thinking of Cynd Nennig, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Nennig, 345 First street, probably prevented considerable damage by fire at the Nennig residence shortly after 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Cynd was attempting to light the gasoline stove in the kitchen when a mild explosion sent flames shooting toward the ceiling. His parents were away from home, but Cynd immediately ordered Robert Steinway, 10, a neighbor's son, to call the Menasha fire department, while he and his sister Evelyn, 11, began throwing water on the flames. The youngsters had the blaze extinguished when the department arrived and little damage resulted.

REELECT OFFICERS OF CHURCH SOCIETY

Neenah—Trinity Lutheran church Aid society officers were reelected at a meeting Monday evening at the parish hall. Julius Miller will be president for another year; August Kehl, vice president; G. K. Mr. Watson addressed the high school students Tuesday afternoon on art in the home, suggesting that every boy and girl in the home start to draw early.

He closed his talk by drawing a life-sized crayon portrait of Clarence Tompler, senior class member.

ELECTRICAL TESTS ARE DEMONSTRATED

Neenah—An audience which filled the high school auditorium Tuesday evening witnessed a demonstration by Oscar Werwath, president of the School of Engineering at Milwaukee, on electricity. During the hour and a half Mr. Werwath showed the meaning of many discoveries and told how they might effect daily life. He experimented with electrochemistry, control of temperature, electro-magnetic waves, radio and television phenomena and high voltage coils. During one experiment a height of 4,000 degrees Fahrenheit was attained. He also produced dry ice and solidifying kerosene into a form of a candle. Amplifying sounds to reach all parts of the auditorium was another experiment.

FIREMEN INSPECT MENASHA BUILDINGS

Menasha—A quarterly inspection of industrial buildings, under the direction of Paul Thieler, fire department chief, will be completed late this week. A similar inspection of all commercial buildings will be made.

The work not only helps eliminate fire hazards and dangerous conditions throughout the city but enables fire department employees to familiarize themselves with buildings to which they may be called to extinguish fires, according to chief Thieler.

LENZ, JACOBY INCREASE LEAD IN BRIDGE TILT

Gain 360 Points to Make Total 2,075 Over Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson

BY TOM O'NEIL

New York—(AP)—Sidney S. Lenz, who is universally acknowledged to have no superior as a player of contract bridge, has said that all bidding systems are fundamentally alike and that victory is 75 per cent play and 25 per cent system. He and his partner, Oswald Jacoby, believe the statement has been proved by the first ten rubbers of their 150 rubber challenge match with Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson.

When the second session of the match adjourned at 12:22 a. m. to day to resume at 6:45 p. m. tomorrow night Lenz and Jacoby were 2,075 points in the lead, a gain of 360 points over the play secured in the three rubbers of the first session. Of ten rubbers played in the series Lenz and Jacoby have won seven, the Culbertsons three. All the Culbertson victories were at the second session.

Culbertson characterized his strategy so far as mainly defensive, a retreat, but not a retreat from Morocow. He believes that his opponents have had the better cards and that the tide will turn.

The baby of the foursome, Oswald Jacoby, expressed himself as certain that play had been the principal factor in giving his side a lead. Lenz in the second session made the only slam of the series so far, a little one, duly contracted. The bidding would, probably have been the same under either system.

To neutrals an instance of comparative play was the fact that once Jacoby made four no trump on a bid of three when he could have been set. He had only the jack and eight of hearts and Lenz only the seven spot. The Culbertsons could have taken the first five tricks of the hand in hearts, but failed to make the proper deductions as to card holdings and let Jacoby get in with the jack.

Strategy Pleases Lenz
Lenz was pleased with his side's strategy in the eighth rubber when after the Culbertsons had won a game, Lenz and Jacoby took four sets, being doubled twice. Then Lenz made his little slam and followed it with a successful game bid. He said that after the first game of the rubber the Culbertsons held three hands on which they could have won the game and the rubber, but sacrifice bidding by Lenz and Jacoby saved the rubber and, all things considered, made a difference of some 2,000 points.

The total of hands dealt has reached 59 and only one has been passed out. Each side won a two-handed rubber at the second session with the resulting 700 point bonus.

Less discussion of relative value of system was heard among the kibitzers but every argument about the rival methods of bidding had an answer. For example the 26th hand of the series, which follows:

Lenz (North)
S-A Q 10 2
H-J 5
D-R 9 5
C-Q J 8 5

Mrs. Culbertson (East; dealer)
S-K J 8 7 6 4
H-9 8
D-7
C-K 10 6 2

Jacoby (South)
S-9
H-A K 3 2
D-K J 10 8 4
C-A 9 7

North and South not vulnerable; East and West vulnerable. The bidding: East Pass; South one diamond; West one spade; North two no trump; East pass; South three hearts; West pass; North three no trump, the contract.

Lenz took six tricks. Culbertson followers argued that Jacoby failed to open with the two intermediary bid of the "Official" system and that Lenz was misled as to his partner's strength. Lenz and Jacoby retorted that Jacoby's holdings were a bit below the requirements of the "Official" system. Culbertson followers argued that under the Culbertson system a little slam contract would have been bid as follows: South one diamond; North three no trump; South five hearts; North six no trump.

It took some lead-playing and typical Lenz deduct on to make six tricks. He put Culbertson in toward the end of the hand so that West had to lead away from the king, jack and eight of spades. The ace, queen and ten in Lenz's hand all took tricks.

Waiters Mistaken For Experts At Tournament

BY MORRIS WATSON

New York—(AP)—When the smoke lifted last night from Ely Culbertson's charge against Sidney S. Lenz's "Official" bridge system only 10 rubbers lay where 16 ought to have been—with 140 yet to be stretched.

But, as is proper, in such a congenial war, the gladiators unhitched their axes, got together and decided Thursday night will be the time for playing faster, if not better, than they moved the time for reopening hostilities up to 6:45 p. m., which in the strictly military view of Culbertson will allow "fifteen minutes for fooling around."

Mr. Culbertson doubtless had in mind the two hours spent Monday night in saying things over the radio, posing for movies and unraveling the general complications involved in getting a war started. Last night's skirmish was again preceded by picture taking, there being one or two possible bridge table poses for photographers forgot the night before.

The picture men still haven't snapped the symmetrical screen-peeking of the newspapersmen, but the match will last another six weeks—four sessions each week—and doubtless before its end they will find good picture material in experts standing on their heads.

A strong movement already has developed to provide uniforms for the experts so they won't be forever embarrassing lay reporters with questions about the finer points of the play. One improvement over the first night was the informal dress of the officials and kibitzers, and especially grateful for that were the hotel waiters. They found it easier to come and go on their duties of serving chicken a la king, trout and coffee to all and sundry without being asked why, in their opinion, Mr. Lenz had such and such a view of his remarks on page 30 and so of his "Official" summary.

The Culbertsons went into the evening game with a thousand dollars worth of new confidence. The challenger offering to bet Oswald Jacoby, Lenz's partner, a thousand dollars against $500 on the side. It was graciously accepted.

Culbertson offered to go up to $25,000, but Jacoby said "let's play cards." A referee said "deal the cards."

As they played each hand the cards were placed in a jar, in a small tray with slots indicated for North, West, East and South. These became the record for clerks to con-

CALLS FUNDS SLASH BLOW TO DEFENSE

Rear Admiral Frank B. Upham Issues Bold Statement in His Report

Washington—(AP)—In the boldest declaration yet issued from an official navy source, Rear Admiral Frank B. Upham today termed the administration policy of reduction a severe blow to the national defense.

Upham as chief of the bureau of navigation is one of the highest placed officials in the navy. He chose his annual report to the secretary as a vehicle to air his views, with the attack particularly directed at the current reductions in the number of ships in active commission, and in the number of men allowed on the vessels.

"This reduction in the strength of our enlisted personnel and in the number of ships retained in commission was made after the ratification of the London treaty and with the navy still greatly under the strength permitted us by that treaty, and inferior to ratios prescribed by the Washington and London treaties," said the admiral.

"This is a serious impairment of the strength of the navy as an arm of the national defense. The approved naval policy of the United States requires the creation, maintenance and operation of a navy second to none, in conformity with treaty provisions."

Concerned especially at the personnel situation—he has immediate

36 STUDENTS HAVE PERFECT RECORDS

Thirty-six students of two rural schools had perfect attendance records for the second six weeks period, according to reports received by A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools. Following are the reports:

Industrial Hollow school, town of Center. Miss Pearl Rohm, teacher. Alvin Arnold, Estella Jens, Lawrence Peters, Grace Brauer, Ethel Henke, Melvin Tiestel, William Jens, Marvin Beyer, Fern Krueger, Evelyn Tiestel, Marie Single, Merlin Arnold, Carl Henke, Rita Henke, Pearl Tiestel, Marue Brauer, Vernon Arnold, Grant Krueger and Imelda Dorsy.

Apple Creek school, town of Kaukauna. Miss Marie Appletton, teacher. Florence, Donald, Victor and Frit McDaniel, Earl, Harvey and Gordon Kerrigan, Dorothy, Pearl and Gladys Baril, Durwood Mattson, Lorraine Mennen, Lionel and Janet Cauthier, Isabella, Joe and Gordon Meulemans.

supervision of this tangle—Upham warned that the American delegation to the Geneva disarmament conference early next year should be accompanied by naval officers who know the subject.

He gave also as "the lesson of history" a declaration that decreases in the navy eventually result in expenditures many times greater than the temporary savings. A criticism directed at congress asserted that its action last year in cutting admissions to Annapolis to three for each congressman and senator would result in great annual variations later in the number of new officers ready to join the fleet, seriously affecting efficiency.

efficiency.

Who's News Today

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON

New York—(CPA)—Senator Henrik Shipstead, the big, blue-eyed

and worked his way through Northwestern university, where he studied dentistry. At Washington, he had been heralded as an untamed and uncurbed maverick. His colleagues were surprised to find a well-dressed, well-spoken and well-educated new senator. He fights the league of nations and says debts will sink the nation unless they are eased up all around.

In London, in 1922, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt gave a party for the Prince of Wales and King Alfonso of Spain. She asked the prince to send her a list of the guests whom he wished her to invite. It came. A roster of London notables with two names appended—Misses Rosetta and Vivian Duncan. The night of the party, hostess and guests waited for the king and prince. Time passed and then servants reported that they were frolic with those "two American dancers" in a smaller ballroom. So the evening passed. No doubt a golden memory for Rosetta and Vivian, in bankruptcy today, after glorious years of hoofing and spoofing in which they became vaudeville and moving picture queens and garnered more than $1,000,000. They were pretty milk-maids on their father's farm near

Los Angeles. This writer remembers hearing Rosetta modeling in Tait's cafe in San Francisco in 1916. Tait's ornate cabaret was a famous incubator of genius, and was watched by theatrical scouts. One of them took the girls to Coney Island. Like other young carefreeists, they might have profited from watching the roller-coaster, but they didn't. There were years of delicious rolling and then some swift coasting, down to the bankruptcy court.

Young Oswald Jacoby, sitting in with the veterans in the world's greatest bridge tourney, was asked by this writer Tuesday about the reports that he was a "psychic" player.

"I am to the extent that I believe a knowledge of your opponent is almost as important as a knowledge of his hand," he said. "I have made it a point to study my opponents' every move, and there is, of course, a psychological factor in that. Primarily, I am a mathematical player."

Mr. Jacoby's uncle was professor of astronomy at Columbia university, and he was steeped in mathematics in his youth. He learned bridge at the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity house, participating in college bridge tournaments with Harvard, Yale and Princeton. On these occasions he met some of the great bridge experts in the country and studied their technique. Now 28 years old, he is an actuary, with the financial independent founders. His diversions, in addition to bridge, are tennis and water polo. He is the only one of the quartette now engaged, who has not commercialized his skill, although he has written occasionally for bridge magazines. He is a bachelor, living in one of the imposing old red front mansions in Washington-sq.

Hobo King Passes Through City On Way To Convention

Joseph Leon Cohen Lazarowitz, "king of the hoboes," visited in Appleton Tuesday on his way from Winnipeg, Canada, to Chicago where he is to arrange for the national hoboes convention in Grant Park on Jan. 2. The "king" will not be present at the convention, however, as he has announced his intention of resigning from the office which he has held since his election in 1927, and also because he wishes to attend the wedding of his brother in New York which will take place that day.

The reason for his resignation, the "king" says, is a lady. It seems there is a girl in Winnipeg who objects to his mode of living and has asked him to choose between his present life and her. Lazarowitz, who announced his resignation a few weeks ago, will arrange the convention and then leave a clear trail for his successor, while he "rides the rods" to New York. After his brother's wedding, he will look for a job and settle down like a "regular person."

The "king" was first elected to his office at the national convention in 1927 and has been re-elected every year since then. He has been in every country in the world except Russia, he says, and carries a record of his travels in the form of clippings from the various newspapers of the cities through which he has passed. He is 26 years old and claims Brooklyn, N. Y., as his home.

FOOLED HIM

Milwaukee—Sam Benish had a $29 bill taken from him by a robber, but he's laughing. The reason for his laughing is that the bill was originally a $1 unit that had been raised to $29 by counterfeiters. The burglar has the bill and $150 cash in charge which was in Sam's cash register at the time of the robbery.

Give them Insurance—your Sincerest Gift

PLAYTHINGS for your children, of course. These precious, fleeting childhood years must be made happy. Something really nice for your wife to prove that sweetheart days aren't over. Let the joy of Christmas morning make you pat yourself on the back for having been the right kind of a daddy.

Then, when this exciting day is nearly done, show them their finest presents — the insurance you have bought to protect them.

Show them how these insurance policies work. Tell them how this one will build their home right up again if fire damages it, how this one will restore daddy's car if it's smashed or stolen, how this one will keep them comfortable if something should happen to you.

Your wife knows all this, and if you're patient and clear in your explanation, your children will understand. Children have a way of grasping these adult matters. They'll be happy — call it psychology or just plain parental affection — because they know that daddy is taking care of them.

Arrange now to give this unusual present this year. Below is listed the group of reliable representatives who have sponsored this advertisement. Go to one of them now, or phone, and one of them will gladly come to you. It's about the finest thing you could do this year.

VARIED VIEWS ON MESSAGE OF NATION'S CHIEF

Press Differs Greatly in Its Comment on Hoover Out- line of Conditions

By The Associated Press

President Hoover's message to congress yesterday drew the following varied editorial comment from a number of the nation's press:

San Francisco Chronicle: Highly encouraging is the president's statement that tax increase to take care of national deficit need be only temporary. . . . There are no surprises in president's outline of measures for relief. They are fundamental measures—designed to free credit, make it run more easily and spread more widely to industry. . . .

San Francisco Examiner: "The president's message doubtless will disappoint extremists of the people because it falls short of the standard set by the constitution . . . which requires the president to give congress information of the state of the Union and recommend such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient." Unfortunately the message does not portray many conditions that urgently need attention . . . and some of the information given is wrong as congress will prove by investigation. . . . These are fact facing times. Their challenge can only be met by leadership possessed of courage. . . . This courage and leadership the country will look to the Democrats to supply. . . .

Compared With Lincoln

Spokane Spokesman - Review: "President Hoover's message 'is an able document—one of the ablest in all ways to come from our presidents since Lincoln. It is profound in its grasp of world conditions. . . . It is a message of faith in the Union and its institutions, and faith in the people.'"

Dallas News: "President Hoover's recommendations demand careful study and will receive it at the hands of congress and business interests. The message as a whole is highly suggestive and clearly shows careful consideration of the nation's problems. His recommendations are so numerous and important that time must be given for a careful examination of these suggestions."

Portland Oregonian: President Hoover has analyzed the "state of the Union". . . . The logic of his analysis will be acknowledged except by those who cling to the untenable theory that the world's economic structure rests upon America as a foundation, and was upset here by something that Mr. Hoover did or did not do. . . . Mr. Hoover points the way of progress, but there is no implication in the document that recovery is a speedy process."

"Shows Deep Thought"

Los Angeles Times: "The program the president outlines shows deep thought, not only concerning what should be done, but also concerning what should not. It is a document which should be a guide to congressional action, and if its advice is followed there will not only be no disturbance of business, but an improvement of conditions which will begin to be felt immediately. Congress can depart from this program, substantially, only at the peril of the country."

Providence, R. I. Journal: "There is too little determination on the part of the administration to reduce expenses and too much desire to use the credit resources of the government to aid private undertakings."

The time, in fact, has arrived when we must speak with the utmost frankness upon the matter of government extravagance. For a nation as intrinsically rich as the United States to proceed deliberately on the basis of an unbalanced federal budget until the fiscal year 1933-34 is not in keeping with either sound business policy or good public management."

Boston Post: "It (the message) seems, as it undoubtedly is, the effort of a sorely distracted man confronted with an emergency that baffles him, but in which he is, perhaps despairingly, seeking a way out. Any report on the state of the Union, in similar circumstances, could not consistently be a cheerful document. . . . throughout the message, the confident assurance of a leader is lacking."

Interpreter Gets Chance To Take Part In New Movie

BY JESSIE HENDERSON

Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press

Hollywood — (CPA)—Tom Gubbins has recruited thousands of oriental players for the movies but he never had any ambition to become an actor. And the way things work out in Hollywood, he's an actor anyhow.

Approached on the subject, Gubbins laughed heartily. This, again, is not a Hollywood reaction toward a director in search of a player. When Gubbins stopped laughing they persuaded him to take a screen test. So now, considerably to his surprise Gubbins the merchant is an officer on the staff of a Chinese war lord and playing in the same cast with Marlene Dietrich, Clive Brook, Warner Oland and Anna May Wong, a cast with which the average Hollywood actor wouldn't care to be associated any more than he'd care to have somebody leave him a million dollars.

For 10 years Gubbins has served occasionally as technical adviser when Hollywood was intent on making an Oriental picture. He has served as interpreter also, for he has lived all over the Orient, goes to the Far East on a business trip annually, and once spent eight years in China. His technical advice and his ability to speak Chinese dialects have been requisitioned for over 100 films.

He was standing around being technical and interpretative on a set at Paramount to which he had

By Martin
HERE, A CUSTOMER ENTERED, AND ROCK WAS LEFT TO HIMSELF. HE SEATED HIMSELF ON THE COUNTER AND PUT ASIDE HIS SOMBRERO, TO FIND HIS BROW CLAMMY AND COLD.
NICK WINTER DEAR! SHOT BY RUSTLERS, OR PERHAPS BY THIS NEW BAD ELEMENT HINTED AT BY CLARK AND WINTER. THE LAST THING ROCK WOULD HAVE EXPECTED WAS THAT ANYONE COULD DO VIOLENCE TO GENTLE, KINDLY CRIPPLED NICK WINTER. HERE WAS SOMETHING TO KEEP ROCK AROUND WAGONTONGUE, IF NOTHING ELSE OFFERED.
Rock pictured in mind the wild range south of Wagontongue and particularly the broken Sunset Pass country with its sage flats and cedar ridges and pinched gorges and the purple timber uplands. There had never been a more beautiful wilderness known to Rock or one harder on riders, horses and cattle.
"True, it's good to see you stavin' there," said WINTER, returning. "I don't need to be told you've worked hard."
"Yes, Sol. I've been five years on a cattle job in Texas. Cleaned up ten thousand, all honest and square. How much do I owe you?"
"Owe me? Nothin'," replied Sol, smiling.
"Look over your books before I hand you one," ordered Rock, mercifully. Whereupon he helped WINTER find the old account, which was not small and forced him to accept payment with interest.
"Say, Rock, to be honest, this little windfall will help a lot," declared WINTER, brightly. "I go in a cattle deal some time past an' lost out pretty much in debt. Then the new store-Dobb's - are into my trade. I had to move. Lately, my business has picked up."
"That's good. Would you go in cattle deals with?" rejoined Rock, gruffly.
"Dobb? Not John Dobb who ran things here years ago?"
"Yes, John Dobb."
"Well, Sol, you ought to have known better."
"Sure. But it seemed such a promising deal an' it was for Nick's sake... But I'm out of cattle deals for good."
"What's become of my old girl, Kit Rand?" inquired Rock.
"Kit. Let me see. I know she married Chess Watkins."
"What! That drunken loafer?" interrupted Rock.
"Yes, an' she couldn't change him, either. Kitty had to go to work in a restaurant here, an' finally they left Wagontongue."
"Good Lord!... How about Polly Ackers?"
"Polly went to the bad," returned Sol. "Some flash gambler got around her. She's been gone for years."
Rock groaned. "I'm sorry I ever came back to this damned Wagontongue... I'll risk one more question. How about my best girl, Amy WUNDER?"
"Worse an' more of it. True," rejoined WINTER. "After you left, Amy played fast an' loose with many a puncher. There are some who say yet she never got over your runnin' away."
"Thur! They're crazy!" burst out Rock. "She never cared for me."
"Yes she did, if there's anythin' in gossip. Mebbe she never found it out all you were gone. Amy was a highstrung lass. An' you know, Rock, you were sweet on Polly at the same time."
"Lord forgive me, I was."
"Boys will be boys. I reckon you didn't know your mind any better'n Amy knew hers. An' now brace yourself for a shock. True."
"Fire away."
"Amy broke the hearts of all the cowboys on the range - an' then up an' married John Dobb."
Rock glanced speechlessly at his friend.
"Dobb was a widower with a daughter most as old as Amy. They were married a year or so ago. Amy is not happy an' she flirts as much as ever."
Sol, will you keep my money till I come askin' for it?" queried Rock.
"Now, true, what're you up to?"
"I'm goin' out and get awful, terrible drunk," declared Rock, tragically. "I'm goin' to drown my grief."
"Well, wait till I come back," returned WINTER. "I've got to go to the station. My clerk is off today. Keep store for me."
"All right. I'll keep store. But you rustle back here pronto."
WINTER hurried out, bareheaded and in his shirt sleeves, leaving Rock sitting on the counter. He felt the wild, unreasonable yearnings to do himself wrong.
A light quick step arrested the current of Trueman's thoughts. He looked up. A girl had entered the store. His first swift sight of her caused him to slip off the corner. She looked around expectantly, and seeing Rock she hesitated, then came forward. Rock suddenly realized that to get terribly drunk was the very remotest thing that he wanted or intended to do.
"Is Mr. WINTER in?" asked the girl, pausing before the counter.
"No. He had to go to the station."
"Oh - I'm sorry. I can't wait."
"Can I do anythin' for you?" inquired Rock. He was cool, easy, respectful.
"Are you the new clerk Mr. WINTER was expectin'?" she queried.
"Yes, miss, at your service."
"I've quite a lot of things to do. I'll do my best. But I'm a bit new to the business."
"That's all right. I'll help you. She returned gracefully. "Now where is that paper?"
The clerk gave Trueman opportunity to look at her covertly. She was thoroughbred Western - about twenty-one or two - with fair hair more auburn than gold. She was not robust of build, yet scarcely slender. She wore a faded blue bonnet not of the latest style.
"Here it is," she said, producing a slip of paper and looking up to see what effect it had. Her eyes were wide apart, staring in color. Rock came into them something happened to him then that he never harbored before and which could never happen again.

SYNOPSIS: Trueman Rock returns to Wagontongue after a six-year absence to find the same sleepy town he used to fight and make love and ride in - even some very well-known bullet holes still are in a wall. He expects some trouble from the sheriff, but learns that the sheriff has been slain. Since Rock left Wagontongue a new on-fitt, Gage Preston, has enlarged the cattle business by introducing butchering. Ash Preston, the oldest son, is a "bad hombre" and is suspected of killing the sheriff. There is some mystery about Ash, and Rock is confidentially warned against him. Rock looks up an old friend, Sol Winter, who keeps a store, and is warmly welcomed. Winter tells Rock that his son, Nick, was shot off his horse, and he does not believe that it was an accident. He adds that there is some new bad blood on the range.
Chapter 2
GIRLS - Past and Present
HERE, A CUSTOMER ENTERED, AND ROCK WAS LEFT TO HIMSELF. HE SEATED HIMSELF ON THE COUNTER AND PUT ASIDE HIS SOMBRERO, TO FIND HIS BROW CLAMMY AND COLD.
NICK WINTER DEAR! SHOT BY RUSTLERS, OR PERHAPS BY THIS NEW BAD ELEMENT HINTED AT BY CLARK AND WINTER. THE LAST THING ROCK WOULD HAVE EXPECTED WAS THAT ANYONE COULD DO VIOLENCE TO GENTLE, KINDLY CRIPPLED NICK WINTER. HERE WAS SOMETHING TO KEEP ROCK AROUND WAGONTONGUE, IF NOTHING ELSE OFFERED.
Rock pictured in mind the wild range south of Wagontongue and particularly the broken Sunset Pass country with its sage flats and cedar ridges and pinched gorges and the purple timber uplands. There had never been a more beautiful wilderness known to Rock or one harder on riders, horses and cattle.
"True, it's good to see you stavin' there," said WINTER, returning. "I don't need to be told you've worked hard."
"Yes, Sol. I've been five years on a cattle job in Texas. Cleaned up ten thousand, all honest and square. How much do I owe you?"
"Owe me? Nothin'," replied Sol, smiling.
"Look over your books before I hand you one," ordered Rock, mercifully. Whereupon he helped WINTER find the old account, which was not small and forced him to accept payment with interest.
"Say, Rock, to be honest, this little windfall will help a lot," declared WINTER, brightly. "I go in a cattle deal some time past an' lost out pretty much in debt. Then the new store-Dobb's - are into my trade. I had to move. Lately, my business has picked up."
"That's good. Would you go in cattle deals with?" rejoined Rock, gruffly.
"Dobb? Not John Dobb who ran things here years ago?"
"Yes, John Dobb."
"Well, Sol, you ought to have known better."
"Sure. But it seemed such a promising deal an' it was for Nick's sake... But I'm out of cattle deals for good."
"What's become of my old girl, Kit Rand?" inquired Rock.
"Kit. Let me see. I know she married Chess Watkins."
"What! That drunken loafer?" interrupted Rock.
"Yes, an' she couldn't change him, either. Kitty had to go to work in a restaurant here, an' finally they left Wagontongue."
"Good Lord!... How about Polly Ackers?"
"Polly went to the bad," returned Sol. "Some flash gambler got around her. She's been gone for years."
Rock groaned. "I'm sorry I ever came back to this damned Wagontongue... I'll risk one more question. How about my best girl, Amy WUNDER?"
"Worse an' more of it. True," rejoined WINTER. "After you left, Amy played fast an' loose with many a puncher. There are some who say yet she never got over your runnin' away."
"Thur! They're crazy!" burst out Rock. "She never cared for me."
"Yes she did, if there's anythin' in gossip. Mebbe she never found it out all you were gone. Amy was a highstrung lass. An' you know, Rock, you were sweet on Polly at the same time."
"Lord forgive me, I was."
"Boys will be boys. I reckon you didn't know your mind any better'n Amy knew hers. An' now brace yourself for a shock. True."
"Fire away."
"Amy broke the hearts of all the cowboys on the range - an' then up an' married John Dobb."
Rock glanced speechlessly at his friend.
"Dobb was a widower with a daughter most as old as Amy. They were married a year or so ago. Amy is not happy an' she flirts as much as ever."
Sol, will you keep my money till I come askin' for it?" queried Rock.

STOCK PRICES DECLINE UNDER SALE PRESSURE

Slump Follows Publication of Joint Recommendations of Hoover, Mellon

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor
New York, Dec. 9.—Stocks again declined today under moderate selling which developed after announcement that New York Central had deferred action on common dividends and on publication of the joint recommendations of President Hoover and Secretary Mellon for increasing taxes.

The railroad group bore the main brunt of selling which at noon had reached a volume of 1,000,000 shares. All railroad shares went to new lows. Losses of 2 to 3 points were registered by Union Pacific, Atchafalpa, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Delaware and Hudson and Baltimore and Ohio.

Selling spread to the industrials and utilities with special activity in the tobacco, telephone and chemical issues. United States steel went to a new low for the present market, closing at 2 points below 20.

Losses of 2 to 3 points were registered by American Tobacco Co., American Telephone and Electric Co., Western Union, Eastern Kodak, and Consolidated Gas, among others.

While the revenue proposals advanced jointly by President Hoover and Secretary Mellon had been overshadowed in many important cases, the publication of the recommendations caused further selling. The scope of special levies against particularly industries apparently caught many holders of stocks by surprise.

These include larger imposts on tobacco and on transfers of capital stock. In addition, they suggest a tax on automobile sales, radios, cable and radio messages. These latter recommendations led to fairly heavy selling of tobacco stocks and also caused some further liquidation of telephone shares.

Decision of the directors of New York Central against declaring a dividend at this time again called attention to the heavy recent railroad dividend omissions. In the case of New York Central, a record of continuous dividend payments over a sixty-year period was broken.

Trade reports were not inspiring. Continued hesitancy of automobile manufacturers to place new orders for steel led to a further decline in steel production, now at 25 percent of capacity for the entire industry.

RAIL PRICES SLUMP ON N. Y. BOND MART
Continued Liquidation Accounts for Depression of Issues

New York, Dec. 9.—Continued liquidation depressed the entire bond list today with practically every rail loan selling down under yesterday's closing prices.

Industrials and utilities generally followed the downward lead of the carriers, although the market was inclined to thinness in the majority of the issues. United States government obligations eased mildly and foreign loans were irregular.

Omission of the regular quarterly dividend by the New York Central apparently affected the entire rail list adversely and weakened in the carriers developed at the opening. Nearly all low priced bonds lost ground.

Declines in loans of the Borton and Maine and Baltimore and Ohio were sharp. Other losses of from one to two points were recorded at midday by Chesapeake and Ohio 4s, 1927; Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul 4s, 1929; Missouri Pacific 4s, 1927; N. Y. Central 4s, 1927; Pennsylvania 4s, 1927; and St. Louis and San Francisco 4s, 1927.

Most of the utilities sagged except Western Union 5s of 1929 which at one time rallied two points. American Telephone and International Telephones were unchanged to fractionally off. Little interest was shown in the industrials.

In the foreign list German 7s registered a slight advance and the 5s were steady. British 5s, however, declined somewhat, as did Italian government 7s and Belgian 7s. Japanese 6s were firm.

SEEK RECEIVER FOR

Wilmington, Del., Dec. 9.—A petition for a receiver for Warner Brothers Pictures has been filed in the Delaware Chancery court by Jules Ender, of New York City, who alleges insolvency.

The bill was filed for Ender by Clarence A. Sutherland, former attorney general of Delaware. Sutherland would not give out the details of the bill.

Under the chancery court rules petitions filed with the court are not public matter until they are acted on by the court. For this reason no information was obtainable at the chancery court office.

BUYERS WIN FIGHT FOR LOW HOG PRICES

Fresh Arrivals on Livestock Market Fall Below Last Week's Run

Chicago—(AP)—Buyers won the first skirmish in their efforts to hold prices of the winter hog crop down. Packers had only 8,000 of stock, and 31,000 fresh arrivals fell well below last Wednesday's run.

Small packers were able to buy good to choice 200 to 250 lbs. hogs early at prices that were steady with Tuesday's average levels, shippers paying $4.25 to $4.30 for best offerings. Underweight lights were plentiful and plain kinds, including pigs, went at $3.55 to $3.50.

The first heavy snow fall of the season delayed about 200 cars of cattle. Shaping and sorting of loads was a slow process, but out of the chaos it was apparent that 60 to 90 day fed steers made up most of the run. More interest was displayed in calves, and strong weight vealers were held at better prices on a supply of less than 3,000.

Only three cars of lambs were forwarded direct to packing houses, and local killing interests were again forced to compete with outsiders for selected offerings.
